4 Italian Generals Killed in Sicily

LONDON (CP)—The Evening Standard today quoted Algiers reports as saying four Italian generals had been killed in Sicily. The reports were not confirmed by official sources.

Must Be Destroyed

CALGARY (CP)—Nothing less than the complete destruction of the German air force and the taking over of civil aviation in Germany by the United Nations after the war is won will satisfy the people of Czechoslovakia, Air Vice-Marshal K. Janousek, head of the air force of that country, stated in an interview here today.

Say Allied Troops At Comiso Airdrome

LONDON (CP)—The Algiers radio reported tonight that Allied forces which captured Ragusa, in southeastern Sicily, had driven to the outskirts of the Comiso airdrome about seven and one-half miles to the west. There was no confirmation of the report, made in a broadcast recorded by Reuters news agency.

Asks $658,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King asked the Commons this afternoon for $658,000 to cover the current fiscal year's operations of the War-time Information Board, and quoted a long letter from W. R. Givens of Kingston, Ont., a retired publisher with "long association with the Conservative Party," to support his claim that the board is serving a valuable purpose.

Nazis Say Allied Force 9 Divisions

LONDON (CP)—Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, German radio commentator, said today in a broadcast recorded here that the Allies had landed two or three additional divisions on the southeast coast of Sicily Monday and Monday night.

There was no Allied confirmation of the report, though dispatches from Allied headquarters in north Africa told of a steady stream of reinforcements. Sertorius reported Monday that seven Allied divisions were on Sicily. The broadcast was recorded by the Associated Press.

Japanese Co-operation 'Somewhat Better'

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King said today in the Commons that Japanese co-operation with International Red Cross representatives doing work among prisoners of war is "somewhat better, but still far from satisfactory."

He was asked a question about the Japanese co-operation when the House was discussing a $25,000 appropriation for the Red Cross Society.

German Claims

NEW YORK (AP)—The Berlin radio claimed tonight that "the second phase" in the battle of Sicily has begun and that "German and Italian measures for the annihilation of the landed enemy units are now in full swing."

The broadcast, recorded by the United States foreign broadcast intelligence service, said the second phase "is much more dangerous for the attackers."

No Union Pact

VANCOUVER (CP)—Management of the Victoria Lumber and Manufacturing Co. Ltd. has rejected a request to sign an agreement with International Woodworkers of America Local 180, but has agreed to consider revision of wage scales if proved they are lower than those obtaining in other large mills in the province.

Nigel Morgan, I.W.A. international executive board member of the union, conferred with Del Humber, company manager, at Chemainus Monday on the question of reclassification and adjustment of wage scales and negotiating a union agreement.

Nazi Commander In Russia Using Up New Reserves

By WILLIAM McGAFFIN
MOSCOW (AP)—Field Marshal Guenther von Kluge threw the entire weight of his armored columns into a furious attack today against the southern end of the 200-mile Orel-Kursk-Belgorod front in an action designed to enlarge the Belgorod wedge and blast a major breach in the Russian lines.

Dropping all efforts to break through on the northern end of the salient, Von Kluge fell back on the old Nazi-powerhouse drive, but the thick Russian defences remained impenetrable, although fighting became so violent that even tank crews of the opposing forces broke into hand-to-hand fighting on one occasion.

(Today's German communique, broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press, claimed the Nazi armored forces with the support of the German air force had gained further ground in the area just north of Belgorod and had smashed strong enemy counterattacks on other sectors of the front. The Russians suffered "heaviest losses," the German communique claimed, including a total of 400 tanks and 123 aircraft.)

FORCES REDUCED

The tremendous success of the Russian armies was indicated by an announcement today that the Germans have "despaired" of breaking through on the Orel-Kursk sector, after suffering immense losses in one of the most determined attacks they have launched since the nine-day offensive started. Today, the Russians said, German forces on that sector have been considerably reduced in size and are being used merely to consolidate their present positions.

While the Russia midnight communique reported German attacks were somewhat weaker in the northern area around Orel, the Soviet army newspaper Red Star said the struggle around Belgorod was daily becoming "more acute," with the Nazis hurling wave after wave of 60-ton Tiger tanks into the fray in an attempt to widen a wedge they drove into the defenses last week.

Von Kluge's columns attempted to exploit the wedge by launching numerous attacks in different directions, front line dispatches said. When these failed the Nazis were reported to have buttressed their own lines under cover of darkness, quickly erecting defences and tank barriers to forestall a Russian flank attack. The German column then turned north and attempted a breakthrough in a narrow sector, but they were again repulsed, the dispatches said.

HUGE TANK LOSS

In engagements where the Russians met the invaders tank for tank, Red Star continued, the results proved that the Soviet "KV" tank was far superior to the highly-touted German Tigers. The Russian midnight communique reported the Germans had lost 122 tanks Monday, bringing the eight-day total to 2,622. The Russians said they shot down 38 Nazi planes Monday, making 1,126 brought down either in combat or by anti-aircraft since Von Kluge launched his offensive.

Although there was no indication that the Germans had decided to give up the battle to pinch off the Kursk salient, the Russian communique indicated the major effort was being concentrated on the Belgorod sector at the southern end, declaring: "Despairing of breaking through the Soviet defences, the Germans today tried to improve their positions in some sectors of the front."

In some cases, the "midnight bulletin said, the Red army used engineering units to blow up German tanks, adding to the destruction by artillery fire.

Kiska Again Bombed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy department announced today that U.S. army bombers had carried out three attacks on Japanese installations on Kiska Island in the Aleutians Monday, but poor weather prevented observation of results.

INVADERS—Out of an armored LCT (Landing Craft: Tank) comes a General Sherman tank operated by British crew as Allied forces land on Sicilian coast.

Victoria's Outstanding Air Ace Home Tonight

Victoria's outstanding air hero of R.C.A.F., Sqdn. Ldr. R. J. Lane, D.S.O., D.F.C., comes home tonight.

The boy who left his job as a salesman at the Hudson's Bay Company store here in the spring of 1941 will arrive by Trans-Canada plane at the Sidney airport around 11:30, wearing a decoration won by only six of his comrades in the present conflict; behind him he will leave a record of service that glows with praise from Air Force Headquarters—that catalogues flights over Europe from Berlin to Brest, from Munich to Milan—and records epic stories of battles by men and planes against enemy fighters, flak and raging weather.

Although when he arrives tonight there will be no civic welcome for the famous bomber pilot, Afd. D. D. McTavish said today the Celebrations Committee of which he is chairman, will plan a civic reception later.

Sqdn. Ldr. Lane's career in the R.C.A.F. has been distinguished ever since he enlisted in 1941. He topped his graduating class and went overseas to fly a Wellington bomber in the winter of the same year. Almost immediately he was mentioned for his feat of bringing home his big aircraft with one motor shot out of action and was quickly promoted to flying officer and then, when he was given one of the big Halifax planes to pilot, to flight lieutenant. Award of the D.F.C. came next, in September, 1942, followed last week by the announcement of his elevation to the Distinguished Service Order.

His log book reads like a European railway guide: Berlin, Munich, Pilsen, Nuremberg, Milan, Turin, Hamburg, Essen, Stuttgart, Mannheim, Trondheim and Brest. He made four flights to Berlin and six each to Hamburg and Essen.

With him on his return to Canada were five other Canadians, all of them just out of the front line of the air war. They will fly back to England the first of the great Lancaster bombers made in this country.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Lane, 1468 Begbie Street, "Jerry" Lane attended Boys' Central and Victoria High School here.

2 British Planes Crash In Switzerland

BERNE (AP)—Two British bombers of approximately 100 that passed over Switzerland on their way to Italy crashed on Swiss mountainsides early today. The bodies of 12 aviators were recovered.

One bomber got into trouble in the mountains near Mayens de Sion, Jettisoned its bombs and crashed. The other crashed near Grammont, south of Bouveret, and was destroyed by fire. Bombs fell in four separate Swiss districts, one house in Rigliberg, in the Bernese canton, being destroyed, and another set on fire, a communique said.

Air Raid Reported On Jap Base In Kurile Islands

WASHINGTON (AP)—Navy Secretary Frank Knox declined today to affirm or deny that United States planes had attacked the Japanese base of Paramushiro, at the northern end of the Kurile Island chain.

A reporter at the Knox press conference observed that "we understand there was an American airplane attack on Paramushiro. Have you heard anything about it, Mr. Secretary?"

"Nothing that I can say," Mr. Knox replied. "Nothing that you can say?" he was asked. "That's right," Knox replied. "Nothing that I can talk about."

"But you don't deny it?" the reporter put in. "I don't deny it or affirm it," Knox said.

Such an attack would be a logical follow-up of American advances in the Aleutians area and a logical development of the growing air force strength there. The big Japanese base, at the northern end of the island chain stretching out north of Japan, is 861 nautical miles due west of the U.S. base on Amchitka Island in the Aleutians and only 630 nautical miles southwest of the newly-conquered island of Attu. Long-range U.S. American bombers could hit the base from either of those places, provided base facilities were available.

A navy communique Monday disclosed that a group of army Liberators and Mitchell heavy and medium bombers and navy Catalina patrol bombers successfully attacked four Japanese cargo ships 280 miles southwest of Holtz Bay, Attu Island. This put the attack on a direct line between Amchitka and Paramushiro and almost midway between the two bases.

Canadian Army Not Broken Up, Says Ralston

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Ralston today told the House of Commons the current Mediterranean operations do not mean that the Canadian army is "broken up."

Col. Ralston said the role of the Canadian army was always "flexible" and it could be "taken apart on the principle of a sectional bookcase."

It had been the policy that the Canadian army could be used in whole or in part, wherever and for whatever task would best serve the common cause.

"The Sicilian operations mean that that policy is being carried out," the minister said.

Col. Ralston was replying to a question from Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, who quoted from a Canadian Press despatch from London dated July 11 as follows:

"It once was thought that when the Canadians went into battle they would go as an army, but the term army has changed in meaning since the north African campaign."

He asked if the campaign now going forward in the Mediterranean meant the Canadian army was broken up.

British Newspapers Feature Munro Story

LONDON (CP)—British newspapers continue to depend on Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, for details descriptive of the Canadian troops in Sicily.

Munro's second eyewitness story, which appeared in Canadian newspapers Monday, was made available to press agencies of the world in London. It was widely used in today's London morning papers. The Daily Mail, Telegraph and Herald carried it on their front pages. The Express ran it on page two under the heading "It's Tough Job Keeping Up With Canadians." The Chronicle and Sketch also printed the story. The BBC broadcast featured excerpts in its midnight news summary.

No Medical Man Left in Sooke

Departure of Dr. John Brown from Sooke for Bralorne has left that whole area without a medical man.

Dr. Brown was appointed by order-in-council this week as medical health officer and school health inspector of Bralorne district, succeeding Dr. D. M. King, who has joined the Canadian army medical service.

Dr. G. F. Amyot, provincial health officer, said his department hopes to be able to find a successor to Dr. Brown by the time school reopens in September. In any event, he said, most Sooke people have always received medical care from Victoria.

8th Army Men Make Landings Near Catania

By RELMAN MORIN
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA (AP)—Canadian and British invasion forces swept up the east coast of Sicily at a breathtaking pace today, capturing the Port of Augusta, 19 miles north of Syracuse, while other British troops piled ashore on the beaches near Catania, major city nearly halfway up the coastline to Messina.

(London reported hearing the Algiers radio broadcasting to Italy today that British 8th Army forces were advancing on the Catania plain.

(The Catania plain extends deep into the central part of eastern Sicily with Catania at the northeast corner of a rough rectangle. The eastern or coastal edge of the rectangle runs for about 15 miles south of Catania.)

Enemy Makes Gap But It Is Closed

It was disclosed today that enemy tanks broke through American lines and penetrated to the beaches in a counterattack in southern Sicily Monday before they were hurled back and forced to retreat.

The American forces regrouped and struck back strongly to seal the gap. A considerable number of enemy tanks were reported to have been knocked out.

Nazi troops so far encountered were reported to have fought furiously in every engagement, in contrast with half-hearted Italian opposition.

Four Italian lieutenant-colonels walked into the Allied lines and surrendered.

Observers believed further enemy counterattacks against the American lines were likely.

British and Canadian troops fought their way into the two strategic communications centres of Ragusa and Palazzola in the southeastern corner of the embattled island, forging a junction with U.S. troops at Ragusa as the latter pushed steadily northward and eastward from their original landing at Gela.

Without giving details as to exact sectors, it later was announced that the Allies now have made contact with two regular field divisions of much sterner character than the coastal troops, but these failed to offer much greater resistance.

Losses at Augusta Comparatively Light

Allied losses at Augusta were described officially as slight and port and harbor installations were captured undamaged.

Augusta, with a population normally running between 20,000 and 25,000 persons, is a fine fortified port which has been used as a naval harbor.

Simultaneously with the rapid-fire announcements of Allied successes, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returned to north Africa from his visit Monday to U.S. and Canadian forces in Sicily.

He declared that co-ordination of the Allied forces there "could not have been better had all the forces been of some single nation."

The junction of Canadian and U.S. forces outside Ragusa consolidated an unbroken Allied line, American troops reached the verge of the city from the west slightly before Canadians drove in from the east, it was reported.

Palazzola is 20 miles west of Syracuse and its capture marked the farthest point of advance inland by the invading forces. Ragusa is 12 miles southwest of Palazzola. Both are prizes of great strategic value, being junctions for virtually all the main and secondary highways in southeastern Sicily.

Loss of the two cities will deprive defending Axis forces of much of their mobility in their desperate efforts to head off the many-pronged Allied offensive.

Ragusa is in the mountains and gives the forces in possession clear control of the surrounding countryside.

The capture of Augusta was preceded by a heavy bombardment from Allied warships, which stood off and lobbed high explosives into the town.

Units of 8th Army Land Near Catania

Details of the new landings near Catania were not given immediately, but it was assumed they were made by units of the veteran British 8th Army which originally attacked that side of the island.

Gen. Achilles Davet, commander of the 206th Italian Coastal Division, was the first enemy general officer to be captured since the invasion of Sicily began last Saturday.

Some German opposition has been met, but not yet in force. Pilots of Allied bombers participating in the furious aerial onslaught against Axis targets throughout Sicily reported that the Sicilian straits still were choked with transport and supply ships carrying reinforcements to the British, Canadian and U.S. forces which spearheaded the invasion.

Axis forces which for the second time attempted to slow the American advance from the south were reported to have used tanks of French origin. The counterattack was known to have been smashed and reports from the front said Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's men were making "good progress."

Ragusa, where Canadians, Britons and Americans were reported to have made their junction, has a population of 50,000 and is the capital of the province of the same name. Comiso airdrome, which was pounded continually by the Allied airforce in the day's preceding invasion is only a few miles west of Ragusa and was expected to fall in a matter of hours.

Over 3,000 Ships Take Part in Drive

Allied headquarters announced that more than 3,000 vessels of all types, including warships, now are taking part in the tremendous task of transporting men, munitions and supplies to Sicily. The work was said to be "proceeding satisfactorily," despite a surf that had made operations difficult at the more exposed positions.

Allied invasion forces have been officially designated the 15th Army Group, and are commanded by Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, who also was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's deputy commander in the Tunisian campaign.

Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's British 8th Army was said to contain "some famous divisions originally with the desert army." Canadian units taking part in the drive were not specifically identified.

Lt. Gen. Patton's newly-formed U.S. 7th Army was reported to include "many seasoned and famous units which fought with such success in Tunisia."

Pacific Coast Safe, Says LaGuardia

EDMONTON (CP)—No one living in the Pacific Northwest area has anything to fear.

That was the way Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, chairman of the American section of the Canadian-U.S. Joint Defence Board, summed up in an interview here Monday night, following an extensive flying tour of the north Pacific area, including part of the Aleutians.

"Let them come," he said confidently, apparently referring to the Japs.

The Mayor and Col. O. M. Biggar of Ottawa, chairman of the Canadian section of the board, and their party plan stops at Winnipeg and Ottawa on their way east.

In summing up his trip, the mayor said:

"The survey by the board reached to the Aleutians. It was very gratifying to see the fine co-operation in every respect and in every branch of the service of the Canadian and U.S. forces. We are pleased with the situation from every point of view."

No Losses In Historic Voyage to Sicily Prospect of Battle Elates Canadians

Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent who gave the world the first eyewitness account of the invasion of Sicily, in the following delayed dispatch tells of the voyage into battle of the Canadian force from the time it left Britain to the beginning of the invasion.

By ROSS MUNRO
AT SEA WITH THE FIRST CANADIAN DIVISION IN THE CENTRAL MEDITERRANEAN (Delayed, CP)—This convoy of assault craft, landing ships and special cargo craft carrying the first Canadian Division of assault troops completed the more than 2,000-mile voyage from Britain to the simmering central Mediterranean Ocean without the loss of a ship or a man.

An armada of more than 2,000 ships is being employed in this, the most gigantic combined operation ever attempted, and now the larger portion of all this shipping, which includes everything down to tank landing craft, are gathering together in one tremendous fleet within striking distance of the Sicilian target.

Canadian soldiers are crowding the decks of our ships. There are British, Canadian and American convoys, jammed with troops, supplies, guns and vehicles all around us, with the Royal Navy guarding it all with a tremendous force of warships.

Every detail of planning and preparation has been attended to on our ships. The weapons and ammunition are ready, the men fit and set to storm the coast.

Through every inch of the long, tedious journey from the United Kingdom we had a strong escort of gallant little Royal Navy ships—destroyers, corvettes, frigates and sloops. Several times destroyers let go patterns of depth charges.

This afternoon we are in those waters which a few months ago would have been called "torpedo junction," dominated as they were by Axis aircraft, submarines and ships.

But this time they are as quiet as the Great Lakes.

What with training cruises since leaving Britain we have been at sea so long we have to think twice to figure out just how long we have been sailing. The Canadians will be glad to get ashore and stretch their legs by hunting Italians.

Canadians Ready And Determined

The Canadians are not over-confident. They don't think this will be an easy task, but they are out to keep the Dominion's fighting tradition gleaming.

It wasn't until we were several days out in the Atlantic that the troops got the first intimation of their destination, when a special notice was posted on the decks, reading, "The following message has been received from the rear-admiral of this force:

"We are on our way to the Mediterranean to take part in the greatest combined operation ever attempted. We shall be able to give fuller information later."

This was great news to the fighting men and their British comrades aboard. They went about their dull shipboard training with new enthusiasm. At last they knew it wasn't just another big-scale manoeuvre.

A few days after this the whole secret came out and the complete details of the Sicilian invasion were told both officers and men.

On our ship the officers were called together in the lounge and the youthful commanding officer of one regiment stood up. The atmosphere was tense as he said, "Canadian forces are now part of the 8th Army that is going to invade."

Outline of Tasks Given By Colonel

The colonel wound up his speech by giving an outline of the tasks of the various corps and divisions, and said: "All of us as Canadians have everything to be confident about and every incentive. This operation is one in which we go in with every advantage and with years of training behind us.

"We go into this show with clean hearts and clean regiments, and with confidence in our men and officers. We go in under the finest commanders, and with the Royal Navy and with our magnificent air forces. Every one of us knows this operation is going to be the most amazing success the world ever read about.

"Our regiments will gain for themselves names that will stand for all time."

The colonel sat down, and for a few moments the whole roomful of 150 officers was silent.

Then faces suddenly became animated, and you could read confidence in their laughs and smiles. The officers went down to mess decks immediately and, gathering the troops together, repeated the story.

The troops listened intently, and when it was over there was no cheering or demonstration. They seemed dumfounded by the magnitude of the operations, and it took a while for them to grasp it all.

When they broke off, though, they were in great form, joking and slapping each other on the back, and some good guessers who said the target would be Sicily, went around gleefully, saying "I told you so."

Sicilian maps were issued immediately to practically everyone aboard and photographs of our beaches and the Pachino peninsula taken by R.A.F. reconnaissance planes were handed out. A detailed briefing of everyone followed.

Just how well the Canadians carried out their instructions was reported by Munro shortly after the Canadians had stormed ashore. In a world scoop he told how Canadian troops established their beachheads on Pachino peninsula, suffering only light casualties in the fighting.)

The weather got steadily warmer until it became unpleasantly stuffy below and many slept on the decks. We passed through the Straits of Gibraltar at night and many Canadians saw the glare of lights for the first time in more than three years.

The lights came from tangiers in Spanish Morocco on the right and Tarifa on the left. Gibraltar itself was silent and black.

Convoy Presented 'Incredible Spectacle'

Several times we sailed along with other convoys, some of them many times our size and escorted by masses of warships. The sea was dotted with ships for miles. We lined the rails for hours watching the incredible spectacle, trying to identify warships and types of convoys. Occasionally we felt a "bump" as escort vessels far in the distance dropped depth charges.

These anti-submarine actions became almost commonplace and did not stir up much excitement as the voyage lengthened towards its climax. As the zero day approached with intensive bombing of Sicily hitting the high spots, the troops made final preparations for the assault.

Bayonet sharpening was the favorite pastime on the decks. Ammunition was got ready and kits packed.

The spirits of the whole Canadian expedition rose like the heat when we made the final meeting with the other giant convoys. Officers and men talked more confidently.

Mr. King Suggests World Grouping Like Our Commonwealth

OTTAWA (CP)—Members of the House of Commons ranged the world in their discussion of external affairs department estimates yesterday.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who is Secretary of State for external affairs, at one point commented it would mean everything to the world if it could be organized like the British Commonwealth, with all countries free and independent, and in a position to co-operate freely, and owing allegiance to a crown, representative of sovereignty, as the Commonwealth head with the King.

Canada had as much autonomy as the United Kingdom, he said. Canada had not given immediate recognition to the French Committee of National Liberation, he said at another point. The government had welcomed every move that indicated the forces under Gen. Charles de Gaulle and Gen. Henri Giraud were drawing closer together, and would not take any premature step which might be wrongly viewed by one or other of the groups led by these soldiers. Gen. Giraud, now in the United States, will visit Ottawa next Thursday.

MORE LEGATIONS

Mr. King told the members there should be no further delay in establishing a legation in Mexico, and he also hoped to be able to announce an agreement to open legations in Cuba and Peru.

Mr. King also announced that Sweden had expressed a wish to establish a legation in Canada, with the Dominion sending a minister to Sweden. He said he had told the Swedish authorities that Canada would be glad to receive a Swedish minister, but might be unable to send a Canadian minister to Stockholm for some time, because of staff shortages. A charge d'affaires might be sent there.

New Democracy Leader Blackmore said Canadian leaders had failed to inform the people of the Empire's unpreparedness before the war. "Among those who had been neglecting their task . . . because they wanted to win elections," were the Prime Minister.

Mr. King said that he had stood up with the present pensions minister, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, former national defence minister, and urged that necessity of rearming when others opposed such action. Clarence Gillis, C.C.F. Cape Breton South, said Hitler had a policy of extermination of Jews and yet a sanctuary in Palestine for many who might escape was being closed by the British government.

"We have not lifted a finger to save thousands and thousands of lives," he said.

Mr. King said the Canadian forces were fighting to alleviate the situation in Europe. If it were possible to have refugees cross the sea Canada would receive them. The Palestine immigration policy was governed by a white paper issued in London in 1939. An annual immigration policy was set for each year up to 1944, and the United Kingdom was advancing some visas, normally valid in 1944, to help some refugees this year.

Norman Jacques, N.D., Wetaaskwin, read extracts from the protocols of Zion, a document which allegedly represented a world Jewish policy. Mr. Jacques said he did not endorse the authenticity of the protocols, but said that those who felt labelled by them should denounce the policy contained in them. "Instead of trying to wriggle out of the authority or instead of denying the authority."

Too Early to State All Japanese Will Be Deported

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King Monday night asked members of the House of Commons pressing him for a promise to deport all Japanese from Canada after the war, if they thought such an announcement would be in the interests of Canadian soldiers and civilians in Japanese hands.

He preceded that question with a statement that in the absence of consultation with the United States, where a similar problem existed, and because the war was still far from over, he could make no definite commitment to those who wanted him to give a pledge that Japanese would be sent home when the war is over.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader, said there would be many in Canada who would look upon this attitude as a form of appeasement. "I can assure my honorable friend that the government has nobody to appease," Mr. King replied.

"I ask him if any action such as is proposed would be welcomed by the Canadians in Japanese hands. It is all very well to speak lightly of these matters having in mind politics in British Columbia and other parts of Canada."

URGES FIRM ACTION

A. W. Neill, Ind. Comox-Alberni, said it was useless to hope that Canadians in Japanese hands would be treated any better because of this stand by the Prime Minister. The only way to impress the Japanese was to be firm and to warn them that anything in the way of reprisals would be ruthlessly avenged.

To take any other attitude would be to leave the Japanese with the impression they could do anything they liked to Canada or Canadians.

Tom Reid, Lib., New Westminster, said that if any Japanese were to be allowed to remain, the first thing they must do would be to disown loyalty to Japan.

"I believe we are following the policy of Great Britain too much and we should say who should stay in the country after the war," said Mr. Reid.

Kootenay West, said British Columbians in his district wished to know if 8,000 Japanese now in the interior area of their province were to be kept there permanently.

J. H. Blackmore, New Democracy leader, speaking of the Japanese, said British Columbia representations on this question had brought no action from Ottawa.

He recalled that last Friday he had made mention of a similar problem in Alberta which might result in bloodshed if it were continued for another 40 or 50 years. Ottawa brought people to Canada and then failed to aid the provinces in respect to them.

Friday Mr. Blackmore said the Dominion government had made an agreement with Hitlerites coming to Canada but had left the province to "take the rap."

POSITION OF CHINESE

C.C.F. Leader Coldwell said the Dominion might suggest the provinces remove all barriers to Chinese exercising the franchise.

Mr. King said he hoped to be able to work out a reciprocal arrangement between Canada and China under which there could be movements like that of Chinese coming to Canadian universities.

He believed Canadians had a real affection for Chinese, and the administration hoped to work out a solution which allowed Chinese to feel there was no discrimination against them.

Selective Service Order Response Good

In answer to the fourth transfer order requiring boys between the ages of 16 and 19 to report to the nearest Selective Service office, many responses have been received within the last few days, said C. A. Mudge, director of the local office.

Indicating that response to the order should be "worthwhile" from the standpoint of directing employees into more essential industry, Mr. Mudge said, however, that boys working for the summer only and planning to return to school or specialized training courses in the fall, will not have their plans disrupted.

"However, it is important that they report also," said Mr. Mudge. The order, he said, affected all classifications of employment listed in the first two orders.

4 Jap Warships Sunk in Kula Gulf By U.S. Navy Force

By C. YATES McDANIEL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC (AP)—A Japanese cruiser and three destroyers were sent to the bottom of the Kula Gulf—graveyard of at least nine other enemy warships—by guns of the U.S. navy in a battle which began Monday night.

Two other enemy destroyers probably were sunk and enemy losses may be even greater when all reports are in. The battle still was in progress, it was indicated, at the time preliminary reports were received today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur from Admiral William F. Halsey.

But already Japan has expended between 13 and 17 cruisers and destroyers in two battles in the central Solomons while trying to hold apart the jaws of a mantrap, which U.S. jungle fighters are clamping on the enemy air base of Munda, on New Georgia Island.

EFFICIENT BLOCKADE

Both battles in the Kula Gulf, which is 15 miles long and 8 miles across at its widest part, occurred when units of the Japanese navy, moving down from the northern Solomons, encountered U.S. war vessels blockading New Georgia's coastline along the gulf. In the first battle July 5 and 6, loss of the U.S. cruiser Helena was acknowledged. Available reports on the second battle mention no U.S. losses.

Today's action-packed account from Allied headquarters showed Japan everywhere losing the fight for Munda—on New Georgia, in the air above it and in the seas offshore.

Ten miles northeast of it, a Japanese ground force of considerable strength was trapped at Enogai Inlet and wiped out. Munda has been cut off from its supply port on the Kula Gulf by a barricade bristling with guns thrown across the connecting jungle track. East of it, American jungle fighters are less than two miles away.

Eisenhower Greet Canadian Fighters In Sicily

John Gunther, representing the combined U.S. press, tells in the following dispatch of the trip to Sicily of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Allied commander-in-chief. The first part of the dispatch was lost in transmission from north Africa.

By JOHN GUNTHER
SOMEWHERE IN SICILY—Our first sight of Sicily came near Gela just before dawn (Monday) after a secret voyage across the Mediterranean.

When Gen. Eisenhower stepped ashore astonished soldiers stared at him. We found an officer and Eisenhower said:

"How do you do? I am Gen. Eisenhower."

Cruisers were firing on the invisible enemy behind the hills. Their angry guns cracked, echoes boomed across the beaches and yellow smoke slowly lifted.

Eisenhower watched the scene and then held a conference with Lt. Gen. Geo. S. Patton, Vice-Admiral Henry K. Hewitt, commander of the amphibious force of the Atlantic fleet, and other high officers.

We then steamed along the coast and made a landfall near the extreme southeastern end of Sicily.

Gen. Eisenhower was most eager to visit the Canadians and greet them and we disembarked near one of their beachheads.

The general found a Canadian officer, Capt. J. E. Moore of Vancouver. He gave Capt. Moore a message to transmit to the Canadian general ahead.

Snipers were active in this area.

Aviators suffering from lack of oxygen at high altitudes are said to be victims of anoxia.

Halifaxes Start West

WASHINGTON (AP)—British Ambassador Viscount Halifax and Lady Halifax left today for a three weeks' tour of the Pacific Northwest. They will visit army camps, war installations, shipyards and agricultural centres. The tour will take them through Idaho, Oregon, Washington and part of British Columbia, where they will visit Victoria July 25 and 27.

Return From Britain

OTTAWA (CP)—Winner of the Distinguished Flying Cross for downing a Junkers 88 when a pair of Nazi aircraft attacked his bomber while returning from a raid on Hamburg, P.O. T. H. Reeves, R.C.A.F. wireless air gunner, is back in Canada. He shortly will rejoin his wife in New Westminster.

Other recent arrivals included P.O. H. B. Marion of Dawson Creek, B.C.

Reggio Calabria, Turin Devastated By Allied Bombs

LONDON (AP)—Home-based bombers of the R.A.F. struck a heavy blow at Turin in northern Italy Monday night in operations co-ordinated with the Allied invasion of Sicily, it was announced today.

The raiders encountered bad weather both on the outward and return trips, the announcement said, but the sky was clear over the target area and they unloaded the "usual heavy concentration of bombs" on their objectives.

Taking a different route going and coming, the big bombers flew a round trip of approximately 2,000 miles.

Because of the bad weather, the aircraft were dispersed on the return flight, it was said, and figures on losses were not immediately available, but they were reported "about normal" for such an operation.

The raid was described authoritatively as "part of the combined operations now going on in the Mediterranean."

Turin has been raided 28 times since the start of the war, the last time being the night of Feb. 4, when home-based British bombers delivered a heavy and concentrated attack on the city. Three planes were lost in that raid. Turin is the site of important Italian war industries.

161 KILLED

An Italian communique, broadcast by the Rome radio, reported that 161 persons had been killed and 263 injured in the raid on Turin and acknowledged considerable damage.

The long flight negotiated by the raiders Monday night was regarded here as particularly remarkable because there were only about six hours of darkness to cover the movement. It was indicated that the homeward route was well to the west of the direct air line.

Passage of the British planes over Europe touched off air raid alerts in Bern, Geneva and other cities in Switzerland shortly after midnight, the Berlin radio disclosed. The alerts were said to have lasted about three hours.

A German broadcast recorded by the Associated Press claimed that bombs had dropped at four places in Switzerland, but caused no casualties. One R.A.F. plane, the broadcast said, crashed near Bouveret on Lake Geneva, killing the crew of four.

Even before the night raiders had returned, formations of Allied aircraft were seen setting out across the English Channel in the direction of northern France to continue the offensive against Europe by daylight.

Some were heard returning an hour later from the direction of Boulogne.

TERMINALS HIT

CAIRO (AP)—More than 325 tons of high explosives were dropped on the twin targets of Reggio Calabria and San Giovanni, Sicilian ferry terminals of the Italian mainland, in daylight raids Monday by 100 bombers of the 9th U.S. Air Force, a communique said today.

The daylight smash was preceded by a Sunday night darkness raid by R.A.F. Halifaxes at the airport at Reggio Calabria.

Returning pilots reported the field was dotted with bomb bursts and that several small fires were started around the perimeter of the airport.

The Americans reported the railway yards at San Giovanni were blanketed with hits and the target area of Reggio Calabria was well covered by bursts by the four-engined bombers which attacked in four waves.

Bomb bursts were noted all along the railway tracks in the San Giovanni yards, the communique said, and a large explosion was seen in the siding area.

At Reggio Calabria, fuel and ammunition dumps were hit and large fires started.

The daylight raids met no fighter opposition, but the communique said anti-aircraft fire was heavy. One American bomber did not return.

The smashes at the mainland ferry terminals by the four-engined bombers were intended to block Axis attempts to reinforce the defending garrisons in Sicily.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DE WITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

War Production Chief Donald Nelson's "Voice of Doom" speech hurled at the Axis from Toronto just before the Allied invasion of Sicily, answers indirectly a troublesome question which a reader of this column has submitted, namely, what concrete evidence have we to substantiate claims that the German-Italian combine is short of resources and is on the down grade in production?

Well, there's much satisfactory evidence that the Axis is on the skids. More than a little support for this is to be seen in the United Nations' triumph in Tunisia and the present manner in which they have invaded Sicily—one of Mussolini's main strongholds.

We also have substantiation from Allied secret agents, from captured documents, from admissions by prisoners of war, from shrewd calculations by Allied experts. However, if you demand precise figures to show the decline, it must be admitted it isn't easy to find them.

Now along comes Mr. Nelson and shows us in a few graphic words that it doesn't matter how much the Axis is producing because the United Nations are doing so much more. We can smother the enemy at his best.

Letters to Editor

COAL IN FLIGHT

With a hope for pedestrians, and especially operators of autos, mothers with babies and everybody in general, I am requesting you to publish this letter, trusting that our good friends, the fuel and coal merchants will take the necessary action to prevent a repetition.

About 3.30 or 4 p.m. I was in the vicinity of the Post Office, at Government Street when a large coal truck, fully laden with small, dusty coal was proceeding at a rather fast rate, toward the Parliament Buildings, thence toward the C.P.R. depot. A very high wind was whirling clouds of coal dust, and which was blown into the eyes and faces of many pedestrians (including small children, and drivers of autos), not to mention the clothing of all nearby; the streets were strewn with coal dust and much of it found its way into open store doors.

The first truck was quickly followed by a second, and which also acted in a similar manner. I would suggest that this nuisance could have been avoided, had a covering been placed over the whole top, or well sprinkled with water.

K. of C. in Sicily

OTTAWA (CP)—National headquarters of the Knights of Columbus Canadian army huts here Monday night released the names of eight K. of C. super-visors attached to the Canadian expeditionary force now in action in Sicily. They included E. F. McCallion, Vancouver; W. J. Gagnon, Saskatoon, and J. R. Losie, Saskatoon.

That's a cogent reminder of the basic fact that this is a war of resources and transportation—as witness the invasion of Sicily. The Allies have many times the resources of the Axis. Therefore the Allies must win.

Nelson says the North American continent alone will outproduce the Axis in munitions this year by nearly two to one. All the United Nations will make three times the Axis output of arms, and next year four times.

"These figures speak to the world in a big voice," he declares, "and if the Nazi and Jap warlords are not completely insane, they will recognize that the voice is the voice of doom."

But Mr. Nelson doesn't let this blind him to the "serious effects of the spasmodic strikes and riots on the war production program" in the United States. He warns that "the times call for a co-operative war production effort of increasing pace and magnitude, matching the military effort."

And then, in making a plea for greater production, Nelson prophesied:

"You will shortly see gigantic battles in which unheard of war materials will be consumed."

In the comparatively few hours since that prediction was made the first of these great battles has got under way. The test is begun.

'Mitch' H. pburn to Run As Independent Liberal

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—Former Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn Monday night accepted the nomination of the Elgin Liberal Association to run as an Independent Liberal in Elgin in the provincial election Aug. 4. He had been Liberal member for Elgin since 1934, remaining as a private member of the Legislature after he resigned the Premiership last Oct. 31 and the provincial treasurership some weeks later.

In accepting the nomination, which was unanimous, Mr. Hepburn said: "I like to call a spade a spade. I am a reformer. If I go to Toronto it will be to represent the people of Elgin. Any party comes second. This does not mean, however, that I have not a high personal regard for Premier Harry Nixon."

Candidate in Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—A Liberal convention of Toronto-Woodbine Monday night nominated Capt. A. Roy Brown of Toronto as Liberal candidate in the riding in the August 4 provincial election.

Capt. Brown was an ace of the First Great War, the man who shot down Baron von Richthofen. He said: "The postwar period is more serious than winning the war. We know what it is to get kicked out of the service and then wonder where to turn and where to go to make a living. I got back

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

Third Compulsory Employment Transfer Order

Notice to Certain Employers and Employees

Notice is hereby given that men now employed in certain specified lines of civilian employment must report for interview not later than July 15th, 1943, to an Employment and Selective Service Office. This refers to men who are in age and marital classes already designated under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations, and also to men who are 16 to 18 years old (both ages inclusive).

A. Objectives

This Third Order makes available for essential employments the services of men in age and marital classes designated as callable for Military Training under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations and also all men from 16 to 18 years of age (both ages inclusive) who are presently employed in the non-essential employments now specified.

B. EMPLOYMENTS COVERED BY THIS ORDER:

Men, of the specified categories, are covered if now employed in any of the following:

(1) Any wholesale activity not here listed: farm products, other than tobacco; food products; hardware, lumber and building materials; plumbing, heating and ventilating supplies; electrical equipment for industrial use; machinery and equipment; gasoline, oils and greases; fuel and ice; farm supplies; metals, minerals and chemicals; paper and its products; books, newspapers, magazines and sheet music; watches, clocks and timing instruments; leather and leather goods; scrap metal, junk and waste. (2) Raising of special livestock, such as race horses, and dogs, cats and other pets. (3) Flower growing. (4) Horticultural services, except tree surgery. (5) Leather currying, finishing, embossing and jannanning. (6) Brewing. (7) Manufacturing in any of these lines: (a) fur goods; (b) robes and dressing gowns; (c) neckties and scarves; (d) curtains and draperies; (e) metal household furniture; (f) household furniture (except mattresses and bedspreads); (g) metal office furniture; (h) rattan and willow-ware; (i) cigar and fancy boxes (wood); (j) mirror and picture frames; (k) perfumes, cosmetics and other toilet preparations; (l) hand bags and small leather goods.

C. AGE AND MARITAL CLASSES OF MEN COVERED BY THIS ORDER:

(a) Every man born in any year from 1917 to 1927 (inclusive) who has reached 16 years of age.

(b) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who, at July 15th, 1940, was: (i) unmarried; or (ii) divorced or judicially separated; or (iii) a widower without child or children.

(c) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who has, since July 15, 1940, become a widower without child or children now living.

(d) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who, since July 15, 1940, has been divorced or judicially separated.

Note: Attention is called to the inclusion in this Order of men 16, 17 and 18 years old.

D. Procedure to be Followed:

All men as defined above must report to an Employment and Selective Service Office not later than July 15th, 1943. Men resident outside a city or town having an Employment and

Selective Service Office, who are too far removed to call personally, may write to the nearest office in the first instance, and await further directions.

E. OBLIGATIONS OF EMPLOYEES:

When directed to accept employment, subsequent to the interview referred to, men described in Paragraphs B and C above are required by the Regulations to follow the direction given.

F. OBLIGATIONS OF EMPLOYERS:

It will be illegal for an employer to retain in his employ after July 15th, 1943, any men referred to in Paragraph C above, at any of the employments set forth in Paragraph B above, unless a special permit has been obtained from a National Selective Service Officer, permitting such action.

G. Transportation:

Special provisions will be made for the transportation of men moved to work at a new place of residence.

H. Appeals:

If directed to transfer to employment subsequent to interview, a man may, if he objects, enter appeal with a Court of Referees within 7 days of receiving such direction.

I. Penalties in Case of Employers:

Penalties are provided for any employer who retains in, or takes into, his employ after July 15th, 1943, any man covered by the Order, except under special permit.

J. Penalties in Case of Employees:

Penalties are provided for failure on the part of any employed man affected to register under this Order, or to follow a subsequent direction to employment, and in addition to other penalties, refusal to comply renders a man liable to compulsory labour service in an Alternative Service Work Camp.

K. Special Request to Employers:

Each Employer with three or more men covered by this Order in his employ is requested to co-operate by getting in touch with the Employment and Selective Service Office, to arrange a time for the interviews of his employees.

L. Authority:

This Order is issued under authority conferred on the Minister of Labour by National Selective Service Civilian Regulations (P.C. 246 of January 19th, 1943, and amending Orders in Council).

M. This Third Order is Additional to First and Second Orders:

Employments listed in Paragraph B above, to be reviewed under this Third Order, are additional to the employments listed in the First and Second Orders. The First Order required compliance by May 19th, and the Second Order by June 15th, 1943.

Men referred to above must present documents at the employment office, indicating compliance with Mobilization Regulations.

Any employer or employee in doubt in regard to the application of the First, Second or Third Compulsory Employment Transfer Orders, should communicate with the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.

Small Gains, Great Losses.

WHILE THE ENEMY HAS CLAIMED and the Russians have admitted that some slight territorial gains stand to the credit of the Wehrmacht on the Orel-Kursk-Belgorod sector of the eastern front, the ninth day of what is described as the greatest battle of steel monsters of all time finds Nazi Field Marshal Guenther von Kluge's forces still unable to score an appreciable success at any point in the 200-mile-long line. What little progress the Germans have made in the Belgorod area of the fighting has been accomplished with the loss in tanks alone of nearly 2,700 and considerably more than 1,100 aircraft, to say nothing of a toll in dead fast approaching the 50,000 mark.

Tact admission of the enemy's failure to effect the break-through he had planned and confidently expected is found in the Moscow dispatch which relates that von Kluge, in sheer desperation, is today throwing the entire weight of his armored divisions into yet another furious attack against the southern or Belgorod portion of the salient. Not only does this presage further enormous losses in men and heavy armor; it is convincing proof that the Russian counterattacks in the Kursk-Orel or northern part of the line are gaining their immediate objectives and gathering a momentum which may well offset any temporary advantages won by von Kluge's new and concentrated assault.

It would be unwise, nevertheless, to suppose that the danger to a vital sector of the Russian front has been removed by stubborn Soviet resistance which the Wehrmacht has countered at a cost in material unmatched in mechanized warfare over such a short period of time. Hitler and his general staff, whether the latter approves the tactics and strategy now being employed or not, know full well that failure to break through Soviet defenses and disorganize the lines of the valiant defenders soon may produce a general Russian attack at one or more points between Leningrad in the north and the Black Sea in the south. For that reason alone, then, the enemy will stick at nothing.

The progress of this battle, however, has proved how efficiently the armies of the Soviet Union had prepared themselves for the enemy's bid for a partial decision on the eastern front. What their losses have been in the last nine days we have not learned; they, too, must have been enormous. By the same token, incidentally, the attacking forces assuredly are not so well supplied with equipment, either at the front or behind the lines, that von Kluge can dissipate his armored and plane strength at the present rate indefinitely without serious consequences.

A Nation-Wide Fight

IT-COL. DONALD H. WILLIAMS, WHO before joining the army was director of venereal disease control under the British Columbia Board of Health, has been appointed by the Dominion Government to direct the newly-opened venereal disease control section of the federal health department. Dr. G. F. Amyot, provincial health officer, now announces that his board is to loan Mr. H. C. Rhodes to the Ottawa department for three months to help in the organization of a national educational program under Col. Williams. By taking these two provincial officials, says Dr. Amyot, we see "further recognition of B.C.'s leadership in venereal disease control." It is also evidence, because of the record of these two men here, that the Dominion intends to attack the venereal disease problem in earnest.

That this problem, which has been aggravated by the war, demanded attack on a nation-wide scale has been increasingly apparent. The Health League of Canada reports more than half a million syphilitic persons in the Dominion. Since 1937 the number of cases in Toronto has increased 250 per cent. More serious still is the fact that the disease is spreading among youth. It was disclosed at a conference in Winnipeg this spring that venereal disease has increased 100 per cent among the 14-to-19-year-old group. A Health League statement estimated, moreover, that venereal disease causes 80 per cent of blindness at birth and that it also is responsible for mental deficiency, diseases of the heart, blood vessels and other vital organs.

As Col. Williams has pointed out, while millions of dollars have been and are being spent in maintaining the victims of venereal disease in general and mental hospitals and in other institutions, practically nothing has been spent on a program of prevention. This may be attributed to neglect of public education. Control of venereal as of other infectious diseases, depends upon public co-operation, which, in turn, depends on an awakened and widespread knowledge of the attendant evils. Our whole approach to the problem needs to be radically changed. It has been our custom to deal with V.D. matters in a secretive and hesitant manner. Fear and punishment have been the chief thoughts in people's minds. However, the old technique of frightening people has not reduced the incidence of venereal disease and, to be effective, the fight against it must be waged openly. Col. Williams and Mr. Rhodes may be counted on to govern themselves accordingly.

Turkey's Decision Nearer?

ISTANBUL'S BATTERY OF 14 NEWS-papers evidently had the time of their journalistic lives over the week-end telling their readers that "since 3 a.m. Saturday Italy has begun to reap the fruits of her alliance with Germany." The news of the invasion of Sicily pushed everything else off the front pages of most Turkish dailies and gave the pro-democratic Yenî Sabah the opportunity of reminding the Axis that "the myth of discord between Russia and her Allies has disappeared." Even some widely-read Turkish commentators who are normally inclined to favor the Fascists were impressed by the importance of the new developments and argued that their significance could not be overestimated.

Apart from the new interest in the march of events which the invasion of Sicily has automatically produced in Turkey—as reflected, for example, by the newspapers of Istanbul and other cities of the Levantine republic—Ankara's concern in the future of the Mediterranean takes on new emphasis as the "soft under-belly" of the Axis is now the object of direct attack. When Mussolini sent his legions into Albania five months before Germany invaded Poland, the late Dr. Refik Saydam, then Prime Minister, spoke thus to the Turkish National Assembly:

"The basis of Turkish policy has been, as far as possible, to maintain a neutral and pacific position. But events having penetrated the Balkan Peninsula and having menaced the security of the Mediterranean, Turkey could not remain neutral and indifferent. This is why we have resolved, together with other powers having interests in the Mediterranean, that this sea must be considered common property. . . . Turkey has realized the need to collaborate with all states united with a view to safeguarding peace. I ask the authorization of the Grand National Assembly for Turkey to march side by side with Britain."

Turkey's official attitude since the utterance of that formal declaration—which won approval for the Anglo-Turkish mutual-aid pact—has been "scrupulously correct in the diplomatic sense. Her path has bristled with difficulties, but the meticulous regard for the proprieties which her statesmen have observed has left her delicate role unchanged and unchallengeable. Peoples of the United Nations, nevertheless, well remember the injunction which the late Kemal Ataturk left behind him for the guidance of the men who fought with him for the nation's revival as a new and progressive republicanism—the men who now are in charge at Ankara. Here are his words:

"For as long as you can honorably do so, keep Turkey out of the war; but if you must go to war, don't fight on Germany's side; if you lose if you win."

How Kemal Ataturk would feel about the present conflict were he alive today, whether or not he would consider his country had played her role of neutrality long enough, is a matter on which it would be useless to speculate. Impartial commentators, however, are beginning to emphasize a point on which it is scarcely likely Turkish statesmen require any tutelage—that Turkey's influence in the postwar world will be measured to some extent, at least, by the amount of assistance she renders to the accomplishment of the victory that will determine her security in the Mediterranean. Moreover, "in the lexicon of neutrality, the final word is war."

'Gilding the Lily'

SURELY IT WAS NOT NECESSARY FOR the British Columbia Government Travel Bureau to issue a costly four-page bulletin to tell people in this province that the literature sent out by this branch of the public service "is outstanding and compares extremely favorably with that issued by any kindred organization," that the number of its booklets and folders distributed in 1942 was not as large as in normal times, and that it still is "an extremely valuable form of publicity with a lasting effect that no other form can achieve." And it would seem to be "gilding the lily" to emphasize special quotations from the Commissioner's obituary dicta: "The desire to travel is as natural and inborn as the desire to succeed," or "every one is conscious of it; nobody is entirely dead to its appeal."

If the Provincial Travel Bureau has any surplus money to expend on the dissemination of facts and figures about the potentialities of British Columbia under innumerable heads, on the reproduction of illustrations of the province's scenic charm to lure the tourist of the future, surely it should be confined to that specific object entirely. The taxpayers are certainly entitled to the conviction that literature so distributed is superlatively persuasive in its appeal, impressively convincing in the manner of its presentation, without a special issue of a bulletin to tell them what, fundamentally, ought to be regarded as a foregone conclusion. As an effort in promoting popular belief in the usefulness of a department, however, this product takes the proverbial biscuit.

Missing No Tricks

WE OBSERVE THAT THE BUICK COMPANY is making aviation engines generate some 60 per cent of the electricity needed to make other airplane engines, by utilizing the power that otherwise would be wasted during gruelling test runs. The Dodge company is planning to do the same thing in its Chicago plant. Buick estimates that in this way 67 per cent of the power is recovered from gasoline used in testing. Presumably this also will hold for Dodge. Testing goes on 24 hours a day. Each engine runs for about seven-and-a-half hours. The savings are obvious. The ingenuity involved is commendable. It is an example of the spirit in which industry has whipped shortages so as to whip the Axis.

Listening to a famous wit ad lib is always painful. It hurts you to see anybody strain like that.

MISERABLE SINNER

OF ALL MEN the newspaper columnist is the most miserable, if he is human. Fortunately for him, he usually isn't. Or if he once was he loses his humanity after long exposure to the blasting winds of public opinion and then he can stand anything.

To a human being of normal sensibilities the life of a columnist would be unbearable. For, in order to make a living, he must expose to the public not merely his person but his mind and this over a long period. And as his mind may change, as he will inevitably grow older and more foolish with each passing year, the deterioration of that organ is bound to be apparent to the public. For the public, of course, never changes. It never grows older because it is constantly enriched by new blood, by the appearance of young people who quickly note the advancing age of their elders and are invariably contemptuous of them, as well they may be.

If I were to choose a trade again, as a young man, I would certainly avoid this one; because the continuous exposure to the public is bound either to wear you down or create in you such a crust of indifference, such a callous disregard of all human feeling, that you are no fit person to have around. For observe what happens.

It is necessary, since you have to sell them to eat, and since no one else will supply alternatives—it is necessary to express your opinions every day. These are bound to vary from time to time as you change your mind; and worse than that, they can never be a complete opinion on anything. It is impossible to set down in the space of a column anything of value, even if you had it in your mind in the first place, which is highly improbable. . . . Even if you possessed the wisdom of the ages, even though you were as clever as the writers of letters to the editor, you could not express anything of importance on any important subject in less than several columns.

Thus you are continually setting down mere snippets of ideas, mere flashes of thought (and many of them neither flashy nor thoughtful) and, as a result, the public is able to see through you, and pick holes in you all the time, even when you are right, which is not often enough to grow monotonous.

ANONYMOUS

THE PUBLIC, OF COURSE, like an editor, has the complete protection of anonymity. No one ever knows what it thought yesterday. If it denounces you for an opinion today no one can prove that it was itself advocating the same opinion yesterday, as it probably was. The public is always accounted wise, as Shakespeare said, for saying nothing. When it takes pen in hand and writes to the editor it may not even sign its name, and, if it does, the name is quickly forgotten and the same writer can write a week later and express exactly the contrary view without exciting the least public objection.

The honest journalist will try to understand the letters written to the editor denouncing him; but he will hardly succeed. For many years I used to try to understand what they meant. The letters of straight and honest abuse I relished, for they had a meaning. When a man calls you a scoundrel you really grasp his thought. When he hits you over the head with a club you suspect that he does not like you.

But in modern times the writers to the editor have grown more subtle and more clever. They never expose their meanings. They write in parables. They usually contradict in the last paragraph the statement made in the first, very much like a ministerial speech in Parliament. Moreover, they are full of sly chuckles and secret leers which leave you quite baffled and make you wonder what you have done, or whether you have forgot to put your clothes on in public.

UNNATURAL WRETCH

BUT, AS I SAY, you get over this feeling. In time you are unmoved by anything, either the direct blows or the clever thrust of the stiletto. You grow in time to be, in fact, an unnatural human being who is quite immune to all the movements of humanity about him. You become in time a monster. Then you can be happy, as I am.

Nevertheless, a great mystery remains. Why should there be any columnist or any columns in America? Why has this absurd trade grown up into a substantial racket? Why are men paid for sitting down once a day and dashing off a few lines of piffle? How can an economic system afford to support such a useless, parasitical, and altogether annoying occupation? I cannot imagine.

To me it has always been a profound mystery once a week to receive a cheque for such efforts as this while other men have to work for a living. I have often been tempted to send the cheque back with an indignant protest, but so hardened have I become in this trade that, up to now, I have always managed somehow to resist the temptation. This resistance grows harder all the time.

"The glory of good men is in their conscience and not in the mouths of men."—Thomas a Kempis.

"True glory takes deep root and spreads its branches wide; but all pretenses soon fall to the ground like fragile flowers, and nothing counterfeit can be lasting."—Cicero.

Parallel Thoughts

If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.—James 1.5.

Well, God give them wisdom that have it; and those that are fools, let them use their talents.—Shakespeare.

Behind the Headlines

LESS GERMAN FOOD

The diplomats' grapevine reports that the German food supply is running low, says Drew Pearson in his Washington column. A new cut has been made in the meat ration. This, coming at a time when the greatest muscle must be exerted in defence of the Vaterland, is expected to be a severe blow to German morale.

The basic ration of meat for normal uses was 400 grams at this time last year. But now the ration has been cut to 250 grams—which is about half a pound per week, including fat and bone. An effort is being made to compensate this reduction by the substitution of cheese and groats (hulled and crushed oats or wheat). During the winter, however, it was reduced to 300 grams. In the spring the cut was partially restored, when the ration was moved up to 350 grams, recognizing the necessity of more nourishment with the coming of the season of greater military activity.

TANKERS DELIVER PLANES

Everybody knows that bombers have long been delivered to England under their own power, but the big problem has been to deliver fighter planes, which have had to be taken apart, crated, then reassembled on the other side.

Now, however, a new system has been devised whereby U.S. tankers are carrying fighters on deck—20 to each tanker—and setting them down a few days later in England.

The War Shipping Administration is keeping the army "cleaned out of fighters" by this method of delivery, and is rapidly building up the strength of the Eighth Air Forces Command which is battering Germany.

PT boats are also being delivered to England on the decks of tankers.

ARGENTINE FASCISM

Two weeks ago, policy makers in the state department concluded that if the new Argentine government broke relations with the Axis, the U.S. government, despite the reactionary character of the new regime, would extend lend-lease aid.

But since that time the Ramirez government has taken a number of steps against democratic groups in Argentina. It has even stopped Red Cross bandage-wrapping by a group of pro-democratic Argentine ladies. Latest word in Washington is that even if President Ramirez breaks relations with the Axis, lend-lease aid may not be granted in view of the government's pronounced Fascism.

To keep their word in the matter, U.S. officials might extend aid to a trifling degree, but there will not be enough to lessen the great fear which Argentina now has of her powerful neighbor, Brazil.

WASTED MANPOWER?

Mr. Bracken seems, according to the Toronto Star, to think that the manpower situation is in a pretty bad way. Judged by results, it is not in such a bad way after all, for Canada's industrial accomplishments in the present war have eclipsed anything that anyone anticipated and have won encomiums throughout the United Nations. The figures have from time to time been cited and are certainly impressive. But Mr. Bracken appears to think that the home defence army serves no good purpose and that its men would be better on farms and in factories. He refers especially to the 100,000 men who are now in the armed forces.

QUEBEC—AT LAST

From Comox Argus

A momentous event occurred in the province of Quebec recently: the provincial government of that province gave its assent to a measure for free and compulsory education. Thus for the first time does universal education come to Quebec. It is one of the last places in the civilized world to enact such a measure.

One of the first acts of the infant province of British Columbia nearly 100 years ago was to make education here compulsory and free. A former British Columbia man who is now living in Montreal and who recently returned here for a visit says it is deplorable to see how the children of that first city of the Dominion are allowed to run wild in the streets. No wonder it is hard for Quebec to keep step with the rest of Canada. And yet we must use tolerance and understanding if we are to solve our common problems within Confederation. The heaven of education works but slowly except where it is a forced plant as in Russia and Nazi Germany.

WAR—25 YEARS AGO TODAY

ally to what he calls the home draft army. But that army, after all, constitutes only 50,000 of the home forces. There are 100,000 others available as overseas reinforcements, and the 50,000 can be sent by passing an order-in-council. No one would be louder in condemnation than the opposition if there were no reinforcements available for the 190,000 men whom Canada has in her army overseas.

CENSORS' TRESPASS

The proper function of the censorship, says Toronto Globe and Mail, is to prevent the publication of or secret transmission of information which might be of value to the enemy if it came into his hands, and the national interest demands that it should be exercised with assiduous vigilance. The censors are fully justified in interfering with correspondence of this type and making representations to authorities who can take the appropriate steps to deal with its authors. But when censors copy private letters containing criticisms of the government whose disclosure would not be of the slightest value to the enemy, they are trespassing in most reprehensible fashion beyond their proper functions.

ONE RESTRICTION

Though Canada is an autonomous Dominion in the British Commonwealth, in no way subordinate to any other government, she has not the power to amend her own constitution. Vancouver Province points out. She must ask the Imperial Parliament to do that. So, every few years, she carries her chores to Westminster. It would be more dignified, more sensible, more effective to go to Westminster for just one more amendment—a clause added to the B.N.A. Act transferring authority over it to Ottawa.

"Once she had her constitution home, Canada could do her own work on it, whether casual tinkering or a major overhaul," says the Province. "She would be the last to admit she is not competent to do this work. Why, then, should she shrink from the duty of attending to it?"

TRAVEL NOTE

Henry Keys, the war correspondent for the London Express, wrote the first eyewitness story of the new offensive in the Solomons. Keys was aboard the flagship of the U.S. destroyer division between Rendova Island and Munda Point. . . . Keys also had covered the battles at Guadalcanal. During that campaign he sent a message to his editors: "It's very difficult to write here, because of the shells and bombs. And I've lost four inches in my waistline during the past two weeks. Would London mind too much if I left here and took a two-week's rest in Australia?"

YOU are needed on the FARM FRONT

This year it IS the Farm Front. We must have more food . . . more bushels of grain, more pounds of beef, more sides of bacon, more dozens of eggs, more tins of milk. We must have more food for the months immediately after victory for the starving peoples of Europe . . . but more urgently than that, we must have thousands of tons of food for our own fighting men within the next few months. Without food for our troops, all our best laid plans for victory would fail. YOU can help by enlisting for duty on Canada's Farm Front! Join up today!

"No HEADACHES NOW" says Mrs. Dunn

Mrs. Dunn isn't one of those lucky people who never had a headache. She had them all right. The point is that she found a way to get rid of them. She writes:

"I would like everyone who suffers from headaches to try Kruschen Salts. Before taking Kruschen, I was hardly ever free from a headache. But since I have been taking it regularly I have hardly had a headache, for which I am very thankful, for headaches can make one feel quite ill. I have been taking a small dose of Kruschen every morning in a glass of warm water, before my breakfast, and I feel so well." (Mrs.) A. E. Dunn.

How do you deal with headaches? Do you just take something to deaden the pain, without getting rid of the trouble, which causes the pain? Thousands do, despite the medical profession's warning cry of "Don't!"

Such makeshift methods mostly suppress the symptoms of head-

W.V.S. Offers Opportunity For Manning Pool Here

Victoria women who, for various reasons, cannot give more than an hour or two a week to war work, could find an outlet for their energies through the Women's Voluntary Services, according to Mrs. Dorothy M. Spurr, who has just returned from Ottawa, where she attended the first national meeting of the W.V.S., held from June 28 to 30. Mrs. Spurr attended the conference as the chairman of the provincial committee, which was set up in Victoria a few months ago to endeavour to organize a Women's Volunteer Centre, as a manning pool for community service here.

The W.V.S. of Canada was organized in October, 1941, when an Order-in-Council was passed at Ottawa setting up a W.V.S. Division under the Department of National War Services, with the following purpose: "To promote the co-ordination of the voluntary efforts of the women of Canada and to encourage the organization of women's voluntary services on a community basis, with a view to their best utilization for the needs of their communities, the maintenance of national morale and the furtherance of the welfare of the nation."

The Canadian organization is set up in the same way as the W.V.S. of Britain which was organized by Lady Reading in 1938 and which was ready and went into action all over the country immediately war was declared. Canada at that time had not set up any co-ordinated plan and so all the various women's organizations of Canada answered the call for volunteers individually, Mrs. Spurr explains.

NO OVERLAPPING

Maj.-Gen. La Fleche, Minister of National War Services, in his opening address to the meeting at Ottawa, which was attended by 75 delegates from all the provinces of Canada, representatives of 26 organized W.V.S. centres, placed particular stress upon the point that the W.V.S. does not and will not replace nor overlap existing organizations. It usurps no powers belonging to other organizations but at all times stands ready to supply volunteers and assist in difficult tasks. It is intended to lend support and give active assistance to them, he told the conference.

The minister made particular mention of the fact that although the first objective is to win the war and give service in wartime, yet just as important is the fact that the W.V.S. is organized to remain in operation and stand ready to help in the reconstruction period, particularly with a view to assisting all welfare organizations in the community.

MANNING POOLS

Its first and present function is to establish manning pools for all volunteer services at which all volunteers may register and from which all organizations may draw what help they need for community work.

The second present objective is the maintenance and building up of morale on the home front through the satisfaction of important work well done.

H.R.H. Princess Alice, who attended two full sessions of the conference and who is actively interested in the work and who keeps in close touch with its

Guide Camp Plans Visitors' Day

Two Girl Guide companies, Lady Douglas and James Bay, went under canvas Saturday at Blenkinsop Road, the popular camp site of Mr. and Mrs. G. Jack, who have kindly loaned their grounds. In charge of the camp are Miss Ryan, commandant; Mrs. Pritchard, quartermaster; Mrs. Welsh, nurse-in-charge; Miss Marjorie Anstey, lifesaver, and Miss Sylvia Gould. On Sunday afternoon Miss Hilda Leighton, divisional commissioner, accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Abraham, district commissioner, and 2nd Lieut. Newman of the Wrens, a former Guide of Montreal, inspected the camp, which was found to be in excellent running order. During the afternoon, Mrs. E. W. Abraham conducted a "Guides' Own," an impressive service, under the trees, and gave a talk on "The Influence of Guiding."

Wednesday will be Visitors' Day.

Dr. A. C. Kinney Dies

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Dr. Alfred C. Kinney, 93, known as the "grand old man of Oregon medicine," died here Monday. He was credited with stamping out typhoid fever in Oregon. He organized the Oregon State Medical Society and was its first president in 1875.

St. John Ambulance girl cadets going to camp will assemble at 10 Thursday morning, at Crystal Garden, Belleville Street entrance.

Lt.-Col. and Mrs. W. N. Winsby, Cranmore Road, have as their guests their daughter, Mrs. Wm. S. Latta of Port Alberni, and her little sons, Morton, Raymond and Douglas. Mr. Latta will join them here later.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe F. Kernan and their daughter, Betty Ellen, have arrived from Great Falls, Montana, to spend the next two weeks as the guests of Mrs. Kernan's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Hetherington, Uplands.

Miss Mignon Barclay-Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Barclay-Ross, Point Grey Road, will be over from Vancouver to attend the R.C.N. College graduation Wednesday, and will visit Mr. and Mrs. G. Sutcliffe, Newport avenue, Victoria.

Miss Jessie McLennan, supervisor of the home economics branch of the Provincial Department of Education, and Dr. Olga Jardine were Victoria delegates at the recent three-day convention of the Canadian Home Economics Association held in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, recently.

Miss Gladys Arnold, who is with the Fighting French committee in Ottawa as press representative, has arrived from the east on a brief holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sutcliffe, Portage Inlet, and will return to the mainland Sunday. Her brother, Mr. Maxwell Arnold, with his wife and little daughter, Noreen, of Nogales, Arizona, have also been holidaying here with Mr. and Mrs. Sutcliffe. Mr. Arnold left this afternoon on his return to Nogales, but Mrs. Arnold and her daughter will remain for about a month longer.

Mrs. R. J. Sprott, Provincial I.O.D.E. president, and Mrs. W. N. Martin, provincial war convener, will arrive from Vancouver tomorrow afternoon to give their reports of the National Chapter meeting before the local I.O.D.E. at headquarters, Wednesday evening, at 7.45. They will be the guests of Mrs. W. Curtis Sampson, "Molton Combe," Newport Avenue, while in the city. Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. P. E. Corby will entertain at the 4 p.m. hour at her home on Vimy Avenue, for the visitors. Her other guests will include the officers of Municipal Chapter.

Appeal for Books For the Services

Books are urgently needed for the I.O.D.E. War Services Library, says Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps, Regent, Municipal Chapter, I.O. D.E.

The I.O.D.E. War Services Libraries supply books to the men and women in all three services, Navy, Army and Air Force, and the Merchant Navy. The camp libraries need donations of money and books to keep up with the increasing demands.

The I.O.D.E. War Services Library in Victoria services the whole of Vancouver Island, headquarters being in Room 12, Metropolitan Building, 605 Courtney Street, Victoria, opposite the Post Office.

On an average the I.O.D.E. in Victoria has been sending out about 800 books each month to the various camps and stations of the three services and merchant navy. This means that the stock of books is depleted very rapidly and right now there is a request for 1,000 books which are not on the shelves. Gifts of books come in very slowly and so far do not begin to supply the demand. Books and more books are urgently needed.

The books are prepared and distributed by trained librarians under the supervision of Miss Marjorie Holmes, assistant provincial librarian, the work being done voluntarily during the evenings, mainly, a most worthwhile contribution to the war effort.

In this appeal for books Miss Holmes stresses that the services today need up-to-date books of current interest, detective stories, westerns, and current novels, besides popular modern fiction.

Donations of money to purchase books should be sent to the Municipal Treasurer, Mrs. P. Cunningham, 202 Union Building.

Next Saturday, the citizens of Victoria are asked to bring to town with them at least one book to be deposited in boxes provided at the four corners of Yates and Douglas Streets, or Fort and Douglas Streets. Books may also be left at the I.O.D.E. War Services Library, Room 12, Metropolitan Building, opposite the Post Office.

City Moves To Check Conditions In Chinatown

Housing and sanitary conditions in Chinatown, subject of a complaint by the acting city medical health officer, will be inspected by the City Council as a whole, together with the fire chief, building inspector and other officials.

Decision to undertake such an inspection was reached by the council on the recommendation of the health committee Monday afternoon.

Ald. John A. Worthington, stating he spoke for the property owners in Chinatown, declared nothing would be done about housing there for the duration of the war.

Discussion of that question, with other health matters opened in committee. Ald. Ed Williams objected to the procedure and was told by the chair no ruling had been given to hold the debate in camera.

The health committee's report carried with it a list of premises declared the most unsatisfactory and an appendix by the sanitary inspector, dated 1941, describing lack of ventilation in certain "back to back" cabins. It dealt also with obsolete sanitary conveniences.

Ald. Worthington outlined the method by which Chinese had been brought into Victoria and Canada years ago, traced the deterioration in building values in Chinatown and said owners had reached the point where they asked what was the use of improving the properties.

NO IMPROVEMENT
"Conditions," the alderman said, "got so anyone owning property said: 'We will not do anything to building up Chinatown'."

He said toilet facilities sketched in the sanitary inspector's report were the same as those used at the Exhibition Grounds.

In the old days, Chinese falling into straitened circumstances used to be shipped back to China by their countrymen, he said. Now that policy was no longer followed.

Many of the old Chinese, he thought, were eligible for admittance to the Aged Men's Home. Nothing was done for them and they were living in cent-a-day cabins.

"We should do something for the Orientals," he said, suggesting an aged men's farm home scheme probably in the Elk Lake region.

Following discussion, the inspection was ordered.

On the recommendation of the health committee, the council approved a meeting between school health agencies and the city health department to discuss merging of the two.

Improved and larger accommodation for the city health and sanitary department, together with possible additions to staff were proposed by the committee, which also placed itself on record favoring implementation of city health officer Dr. David Bertram's recommendation for immediate chlorination of the city's water supply.

Small Island Is Densely Packed 'Bird Summer Resort'

People have summer resorts where they go for the summer months, and so do birds. One of the greatest "bird summer resorts" is a small island in the Bering Sea. It is known as Walrus Island, and many thousands of birds spend time there each year.

Walrus Island is a small member of the Pribilof group. It has an area of only 60 acres, but has more birds per acre than any of the large islands in the group.

Walrus Island is a bare rock, but there are good reasons for it to be chosen as a summer home by such birds as cormorants, gulls, murre and puffins.

The birds I have named make their living by fishing. They can use the rocky island for raising young, but they find their food in the sea.

No foxes or other four-legged animals live on Walrus Island, and the birds are safe from attack.

The larger Pribilof Islands also have a big bird population, along with large numbers of fur seals. It is estimated that from 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 birds spend the summer months in this region.

The murre are among the leading citizens among the birds. They belong to the auk family, and are good divers and swimmers.

Instead of building nests, the pairs of murre lay claims to certain spaces. It seems that they know, or suppose they know, exactly the space which is theirs. Time and again they fight against other birds which claim the same few square feet.

A small rocky ledge may supply space for a dozen or more murre families. When the birds start to beat at one another with their wings, perhaps rolling and tumbling, there is danger of eggs being knocked from the ledge.

If the eggs had the shape of hen's eggs, great numbers would be lost. As it is, the female murre lays an egg shaped very much like a pear. On end bulges out. As a result, the egg tends to roll around in a circle when given a shove, and does not often go over the edge of the cliff or rock ledge.

Depth Charge Call Heard By Clubmen

There is a slight lull in enemy submarine warfare at the moment, but the Atlantic Ocean has not been cleaned up yet, Captain E. L. Armstrong, R.C.N., who served with the Royal Navy for 18 years, warned members of the Gyro Club at their weekly luncheon in Empress Hotel, Monday.

"Also the Pacific Ocean is bigger and we don't know what is going to develop there," he said during the course of a brief address, entitled "Stamp Out the U-Boat."

Making a plea for more and still more depth charges Captain Armstrong told of the time when Allied ships had to think twice before dropping their charges over and stated that at one time the ships always ran out of depth charges.

Now Allied ships are given all the charges they can carry, he said. Describing the explosion of the depth charge the captain, who was a submarine man for 10 years during peacetime, declared that once a sub was forced to the surface there were no rules for handling it. "Ram him, hit him, bite him! To do that we need an unlimited number of depth charges," he said.

Good weather and increased number of escort ships were responsible, he said, for the Allies enjoying some of the best months they have had in the battle of the Atlantic. Of the German method of hunting in wolf packs, Captain Armstrong stated it was not doing them a great deal of good, for once a ship has found one, she goes after all the others.

"If submarines are detected beforehand, 90 per cent of them never get a chance to do anything," he said.

Captain Armstrong spoke briefly of the Royal Canadian Navy and the manner in which its ships are manned. Fred Hawes, vice-president was in the chair.

NANAIMO—The possibility of the Boeing Aircraft Company taking over the Civic Arena for the manufacture of airplane parts was discussed at the council meeting Monday night. Mayor Harrison said he understood negotiations are going ahead for the leasing of the arena at approximately $6,000 per year. He was not informed as to the exact amount.

It is understood that at present the plans are being held up awaiting word from Ottawa regarding the necessity of a building here for airplane parts, should it be revealed that a wartime necessity exists.

The commission, it is understood, is willing to negotiate with the Boeing Company of Canada.

Libby, McNeill, Libby Mark 75th Birthday

In 1868 three men sat in their shadowy, gas-lighted office and laid plans for a company which this year is celebrating its 75th anniversary and has been manufacturing in Canada for 31 years.

These men undoubtedly possessed industry, imagination and foresight. But it is doubtful if any of the three could have foreseen the day when their little firm of Libby, McNeill & Libby would pack a greater variety of food under one label than any other company in the world.

The three men were Arthur A. Libby, Archibald McNeill and Charles P. Libby. Harvey W. Olsen, president and managing director of Libby, McNeill & Libby of Canada Ltd., states that his company started out with one product—an excellent cooked corned beef. As the business grew, new products were added, until today the company packs canned meats and meat products, fruits, vegetables, baby foods, an assortment of juices, a variety of pickles, sauces and relishes, as well as salmon and evaporated milk. There are more than 100 items altogether and they are packed in scores of canneries in

Dorothy Dix:

DEAR MISS DIX—I am 16 years old and now completing the 7th grade at school. My parents want me to go to high school, but I fear I am a little too old. Do you think I should continue going to school, or quit and go to work? How many grades does a person need to become a stenographer, or a teacher, or a secretary?

SCHOOL GIRL.
ANSWER—By all means finish high school, at least. If you apply for any job, even a menial one, the first question that will be asked you is how much formal education you have had, and if you have not graduated from high school, you will have to take a poor job with little pay.

In order to become a stenographer, or a secretary it is absolutely necessary that you have a good education. To become a teacher you will have to have a college education. Evidently you have not been a very good student heretofore, so now that you realize the importance of an education, perhaps you will have more interest in your books.

HELPED WIN WARS
In the 75 years since the company was founded, Libby's has faced several wars and has contributed toward the winning of them. The company's many years of experience in processing food, plus its capacity to produce those foods in volume, is now dedicated unreservedly to the winning of the present war.

Nutritious food in great quantity is needed by the millions of fighting men in the various United Nations' services. It is vital, too, that the home front workers be well fed so that they may be kept

A NEW WORK A NEW WORLD - A NEW HORIZON for Women

New fields for women have been opened in the Services. More than 50 different occupations, vital to the war effort, offer women the opportunity to serve their country.

Are Women Really Needed?

Yes—urgently! New fighting fronts are developing and fighting men MUST not be doing jobs which women can handle.

What Qualifications Do I Require?

You must be between the ages of 18 and 45, in good health, with Grade VIII education or better. You must be single, or married without dependent children.

I've Never Been Away From Home Before

In the Forces you will live in a friendly atmosphere with girls like yourself who have decided to carry their share. You will meet splendid women from all over Canada, see new places, do new things, form new friendships. You will find plenty to interest you both on and off duty.

What About My Health?

It is watched over more carefully even than at home. You'll have regular hours—plenty of exercise and sports—lots of good food—medical and dental care. In a few weeks you'll find yourself feeling and looking better than ever before.

Is The Pay Enough?

Yes—for you receive free all equipment, shelter, food, clothing, medical and dental services.

Perhaps I Won't Fit Into The Work?

Every effort is made to fit each member into the job for which she is best suited and which she finds most interesting. The choice is wide and thorough training is given in many trades.

What Training Do I Get?

You start with 4 weeks basic training. After that there are training courses in scores of different trades.

Is There Chance of Promotion?

Certainly! The three Forces are expanding rapidly, and promotions are made from the ranks. Additional training is given where needed. Every encouragement is given to developing your talents and securing advancement. You may lay the foundations of a new career after the war, through the training received. Lifetime horizons will be broadened. Best of all, you'll have the satisfaction of doing your part now.

No Council Control Over Bawdy Houses

The City Council's responsibility in respect to suppression of houses of prostitution in Victoria rests solely with its duty to provide police force to see the law is enforced, according to an opinion from F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, read at Monday's City Council meeting.

The opinion was an answer to queries raised by the council over its position on the question following a recent report from the Women's Missionary Society of the Centennial United Church. The council, according to Mr. Shaw, had no control over the police nor the police commission and the police were the only persons who could act. They could move, he added, only on evidence and not on suspicion or rumor.

On the recommendation of Ald. Archie Wills the communication was received and filed and copies sent to the Women's Missionary Society of the Centennial United Church and to the police commission.

"We can only ask that things be done," the alderman added. If anyone had a complaint, he should go before the police commission with it, Mayor Andrew McGavin commented.

Ald. Ed. Williams asked Mr. Shaw's letter be given publicity. "We have no more to do with it (the question of bawdy houses) than any other body," he said.

Ten salary increases were approved during the meeting. C. S. Rodway, welfare department, received a boost of $7.50 a month; Margaret Andrews of the same department was raised $5 a month, with Ald. Wills protesting against a move which had transferred her to a man's job at a wage $40 a month less than her predecessor received; L. J. Eekman, assistant building inspector, received a $5 a month increase; R. A. Smith, acting assistant engineer, was raised from $199 to $230 a month; F. B. Robinson, Ross Bay Cemetery caretaker and caretakers at Macdonald and Royal Athletic Parks each were raised $10 a month, as was J. Wittcomb of the comptroller's department. H. G. McKenzie and W. Frampton, also of the comptroller's department, received $5 a month increases. Phil J. W. Raymond was given an extra $10. A finance committee recommendation urging no further consideration for wage increase applications was withdrawn when it drew general protest.

The council endorsed for submission to the Union of B.C. Municipalities' Convention a motion from the Victoria Library Board advocating creation of a certification board for librarians.

The City Hall Officials' Association was formally notified on five-day week would be authorized by the council on the grounds the majority of department heads were against such action.

Ald. D. D. McTavish and Ald. W. H. Davies were asked to stand by in case delegates named by Mayor McGavin to the U.B.C.M.

convention were unable to make the trip. Those previously appointed included Aldermen P. E. George, B. J. Gadsden, T. W. Hawkins and Fred A. Willis. City Solicitor F. L. Shaw and Mayor Andrew McGavin will also attend.

A postwar rehabilitation program drafted at the last convention of the Canadian Mayors and Municipalities was submitted by Mayor Andrew McGavin and referred to the city's special postwar rehabilitation committee for study.

Further consideration of Bishop John Cody's plea for exemption from taxation of the Catholic Chinese Mission was tabled pending the return of F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, now on holiday.

Communications from the editor of the Halifax Chronicle, the Victoria and District Council, Canadian Legion and the Vancouver Board of Trade regarding carrying of Victoria-Vancouver passengers on T.C.A. airlines were referred to the business and trades development committee. The Vancouver Board of Trade voiced opinion conditions did not merit re-opening of the city's application to have passengers carried on the big ships in view of the expense and work done by another airline serving the two cities. Mayor Andrew McGavin, briefing comment by W. M. Neal, C.P.R. vice-president, indicated the city could hope for no reduction in Canadian Pacific Airlines fares.

The City Hall Officials' Association, seeking establishment of a three-man independent board to draft a salary schedule for hall workers, will be asked to submit an outline of their wishes before the council acts on their application for a board. That action was taken on Ald. Archie Wills' suggestion after the council had been informed the association had declined the mayor's proposal. Ismay, Bolton, Holden & Company do the work. The mayor said 50 per cent of the employees now working would not be in their jobs when the war was over and those who had left the services for the forces returned. He indicated a salary schedule now would be a breach of faith against men now under arms.

The city lands committee is averse to giving the Kinsmen Club and Solarium Junior W.A. the lot on the southeast corner of Richardson and Moss as a site for its charity contest gift house owing to the fact it wishes to preserve big redwoods there. But, said the chairman, Ald. T. W. Hawkins, the committee is prepared to discuss other properties with the sponsors of the proposed contest and make available a lot probably at $1.

The city public works committee was instructed to take up with the Island Tug and Barge Company Limited the manner in which garbage scows are being dumped. A. L. Jones raised the question in a letter criticizing the filthy condition of beaches. Ald. D. D. McTavish reported scows were being dumped within a mile of shore. Mayor McGavin said they were discharged just off Broth's Ledge.

The same committee was asked to deal with a letter from Ben Pruss seeking payment by the city of costs entailed in a sewer pipe repair on Gorge Road which, Pruss alleges, was disjointed through faulty workmanship by the city.

C. P. Daykin's proposal to create mountain valley reservoirs to serve Vancouver Island during the summer months was referred to the water board for study.

A letter from H. B. Hayes, drawing attention to the questionable condition of a bridge and the clogged condition of a creek on Clawthorpe Avenue, was referred to the public works committee.

The electric lights committee was asked to report on a petition from residents of the 1,000 block, Queen's Avenue, for an overhead light.

Tenders of the fire department for trousers, a chief's uniform, and hose were approved, the chief was authorized to attend the International Fire Chiefs' Association convention at Chicago and appointment of lieutenants was confirmed, on the recommendation of the fire warden.

The council authorized payment of $250 a month for three months to the Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference self-help fuel committee to assist in administration of its activities and approved purchase of two Wee Mae greengrocers at $230 to facilitate bushwood cutting, on the recommendation of the fuel committee.

Application of authorities to have Gordon Head Officers' Training Centre sanitary facilities connected with the northeast sewer was referred to the joint city-Oak Bay public works departments and engineers for study.

Liability for damage to the Russian ship, Maxim Gorky, which scraped Johnson Street Bridge, was declined following receipt of an opinion from F. L. Shaw, city solicitor.

The lands committee found approval for 13 sales. They included two lots on the south side of Burnside which brought $50 each; one on the east of St. Charles, $50; the southwest corner of Belmont and Ryan, $50; two parcels on the south of Selkirk, $200; four on Lee Avenue, $75; a lot on the south of Johnson, $650; the northwest corner of Finlayson and Fifth, $200, a property on north of Burdett, $500; one on west Quessell, $200; another on the east of Douglas, $100; the structure at 723 Cook, $3,500; and 2650 Cook, $1,000. The last-mentioned was sold on the understanding it would be converted into six self-contained suites.

The finance committee's recommendation that $250 be given to the Greek War Relief Fund to be approved as was the move to raise the Y.W.C.A. grant $376.07 to cover all taxes on the association's property.

One garbage department employee was retired on superannuation and rehired on a temporary basis and announcement was made $156,000 in unsold city debentures, surrendered by the Bank of Montreal, had been canceled.

Another move, supported by Police Chief J. A. McLennan, to have parallel parking instituted on Douglas Street, was tabled until the views of merchants in the area had been determined.

Ald. J. A. Worthington found support for a move to place before the Union of B.C. Municipalities a resolution seeking legislation to permit granting of scholarships by municipalities to colleges in their area. His particular interest, he said, was Royal Canadian Naval College at Royal Roads, where he wished to see a city bursary of $300 established during the first year of the city's sponsorship and $500 in succeeding years to help worthy students.

keeper; hotel bell boy; porter (other than in railway train service); private chauffeur; taxi driver; waiter.

D. How the Order affects Young Men still attending School:

Young men in the age groups mentioned, now employed, will not be interfered with insofar as returning to school at the opening of the school session in the Autumn is concerned; but young men in the age classes covered, who are now working during their summer vacation, must comply with this Compulsory Order.

E. Procedure to be followed:

All men as defined above must report to an Employment and Selective Service Office not later than July 24th, 1943. Men resident outside a city or town having an Employment and Selective Service Office, who are too far removed to call personally at such an Office, may write to the nearest office in the first instance, and await further directions.

F. Appeals:

If directed to transfer to employment subsequent to interview, a man may, if he objects, enter appeal with a Court of Referees, within 7 days of receiving such direction.

G. Penalties:

Penalties are provided for employers who retain, or take into their employ, after July 24th, 1943, any man covered by this Order except under special permit. Also, penalties are provided for failure of an employee covered by the Order, to register or to follow a subsequent direction to employment.

H. Authority:

This Order is issued under authority conferred on the Minister of Labour by National Selective Service Civilian Regulation (P.C. 246 of January 19th, 1943, and amending Orders in Council).

Employers or employees uncertain of the application of this Order in a particular case are advised to communicate immediately with the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.

Attention is directed to the fact that the Third Compulsory Order, which contains a list of occupations different from the above, also requires certain young men 16, 17 and 18 years of age to report to National Selective Service.

OFFICIALS of the local ball league are taking a lot of uncalculated criticism these days as a result of those two washout games Saturday between Victoria All-Stars and visiting Port Orchard. Entire blame for the poor exhibitions could be laid on the doorstep of the visitors. They certainly came here under "false pretences." Before the series was arranged the Orchards sent along a lot of pre-game publicity, including newspaper clippings, which showed them to be a first class amateur club. We looked over the advance dope and can truthfully say that if the Forts had lived up to their advance notices two good ball games would have resulted.

We wonder if the same players made the trip that were listed in the original lineup. It is easy for players to take assumed names for the sake of a baseball box score. Doing a little investigating of our own we have learned the Orchards trotted out a team of teen-aged players. One member of their club was a 15-year-old, another boasted 16 summers, while two of them were 17. Another pair had just hit the army draft age, while two more were actual old-timers at 22. So one can understand just why some of those visiting players performed as if they had stepped into baseball uniforms for the first time. Maybe they had.

In order to protect their fans the local officials should make a more extensive investigation of the ability of future clubs they might bring in. Baseball has been going over big this season and the league should take no chances of getting the supporters sour. There were plenty of disgruntled fans Saturday, and they would not appreciate a repeat promotion. Victoria can field a mighty sweet all-star lineup right now, and it is going to take a smart club to beat it. The officials should govern themselves accordingly when they arrange games with out-of-town clubs.

Speak! of baseball we note where an umpire down in Waterloo, Ont., is seeking authority to govern the actions of the fans in the stands. Seems he isn't satisfied with having a couple of dozen players to handle, but wants to boss the unruly spectators. He must be a glutton for punishment.

Charles Edwards, Canadian Press columnist, writes as follows:

"The Waterloo parks board has asked Mayor Frank Relyea to invest special constable powers on umpire Fred Anderson, giving him authority to eject persons from the park. It seems Freddy hasn't taken kindly to the names he has been called of late. We hope Mayor Relyea realizes the responsibility cast upon him. For years the Caspars, who have taken a beating from the boss all day, have gone to the ball game at night and unloaded on the umpire. Mamma hasn't been able to cuss in front of the children, but she sure lets loose when Mr. Blue Pants calls a bad one. The umpire is the one guy in this world who's supposed to take a beating (verbal only) without hitting back. We all know he's blind; he should be deaf too."

Ortiz Scores Kayo In Seventh Round

SEATTLE (AP)—N.B.A. bantamweight champion Manuel Ortiz defended his crown with a 7th round technical knockout over Joe Robello of Pasadena, Calif., in a scheduled 15-round title bout here Monday night. Ortiz weighed 117½ and Robello 117. Though punching power had given the crouching champion an edge from the first, it was not until the sixth round that Ortiz turned on the steam, and in the seventh, Robello was hanging, groggy, from the ropes with his head bouncing from side to side under Ortiz's blows when the referee stopped it.

Thoth, an Egyptian deity, was considered the inventor of geometry, medicine, music, rhythm, arithmetic and astronomy.

Toronto Girl Tops Batting Parade

CHICAGO (CP)—Leading hitter since the second week of the season, Gladys Davis of Toronto continues to top the batting parade in the four-team all-American Girls' Softball League, as well as the runs batted in column. A shortstop for the cellar-dwelling Rockford team, she has a batting average of .367, a four-point improvement over last week. Her powerful bat has produced 30 runs.

Mildred Warwick of Regina, Rockwood third base performer, is fourth leading batter in the league, with an average of .323. She leads the league in triples with six.

Slugging marks of other Canadian girls in the league include Catherine Bennett of Regina, with the third place Kenosha team, .296; Ethel McCreary of Regina, with Rockford, .288; Doris Barr, with the second-place South Bend aggregation, .275; Mary Baker of Regina, with South Bend, .269; Helen Nicol of Calgary, with Kenosha, .172, and Annabelle Thompson of Edmonton, with pace-setting Racine, .114.

Softball Tonight

Softball's senior men's clubs will get back into action tonight, after a lengthy layoff, with a pair of games at the Athletic Park.

Starting at 6:15 the league-leading Navy will battle the R.C.A.F. to be followed by a clash between the Army and Victoria Machinery Depot.

Pigeon Racing

The Victoria Racing Pigeon Club will hold its first young bird race from Chilliwack, a distance of 80 aerial miles, July 18. Birds will be basked at Pandora Avenue at 7:30 Friday, July 16. Clock setting will take place the same night.

Navy Wins Baseball

Takes Over Second

Navy baseballers are reposing all by themselves today in second place in the senior ball league as a result of their 8 to 5 victory over R.C.A.F. Flyers, Monday night. However, the Army gets a chance to regain their second-place deadlock Wednesday night when the troops hook up with the league-leading Victoria Machinery Depot, starting at 6:30.

After spotting the Navy eight runs in the first three innings the Flyers tried gamely to get back in the ball game, putting on a four-run rally in the eighth, and adding a single in the ninth. Flyers got away to a bad opening by starting Dick Williams, a newcomer, on the mound. He failed to get through the first inning, being chased after giving up four runs, to be replaced by southpaw Bert Appleby. The left-hander fared little better, being taken from the box in the third as Jerry Ray took over. The last-named blanked the Navy the remainder of the way, giving up only two hits, while he struck out five.

Babe Ruth Leads Services Nine To Win Over Braves

BOSTON (AP)—The fat and forty-eightish but still fabulous Babe Ruth, aided by such recent American League heroes as Ted (batting champion) Williams and Don DiMaggio, Monday masterminded a service all-star team to a 9 to 8 victory over Boston Braves at Fenway Park.

During the late stages of the game, which served as the piece de resistance of Mayor Maurice J. Tobin's annual charity field day program, Ruth heeded the pleas of the 12,000 spectators and wearing his famous No. 3 New York Yankees uniform, obliged as a pinch hitter. He took lusty swings at Dave Odom's offerings and managed to fly out to right field on his third try.

Before the game Ruth, who had not handled a bat since last summer, attempted to put on a long-range batting duel with Williams, who wore his recently discarded Red Sox spanglers. With Red Barrett, the Braves' bullpen pitcher, throwing, Williams managed to belt three balls into the right field stands. Ruth, hampered by his old knee injury, was unable to drive off the playing field.

In the seventh inning, Williams belted a homer against Odom with two runners aboard and DiMaggio contributed a third-inning triple with a pair of All-Stars on base. Chuck Workman put the Braves into a 5 to 5 tie in the fifth by hommering with one aboard.

Other members of the Ruth forces included Ensign Babe Young of the coastguard, formerly of New York Giants; Al Roberge, former Braves infielder now stationed at Fort Devens, and coastguardsman Jimmy Hegan, recent Cleveland catcher.

Short score follows:
R. H. E.
Navy 8 7 1
R.C.A.F. 5 7 3
Batteries—Berringer and Efron; Williams, Appleby, Ray and Chalmers, Switch.

Amateur Ice Bosses Breathe Easier

Services Will Play

By CHARLES EDWARDS
TORONTO (CP)—Lt. Col. Rodolph Larose of Cornwall, Ont., would be a competent one-man invasion force if he could scare Adolf as easily as he paralyzed sundry rink managers and hockey promoters in Canada last week.

When the good colonel announced suspension of organized service hockey in Cornwall next season, members of the Ancient Brotherhood of Rink Owners cried as one voice for the smelling salts. Hockey coaches across the country grabbed feverishly for the "help wanted" columns. Sport columnists broke out in verbal rashes.

All apparently thought the Cornwall suspension was the thin edge of the wedge. As Doug Vaughan of the Windsor Star put it: "If other armed service training centres follow the lead taken by Cornwall—and it is pretty sure that they will—it will be just about the death knell for amateur hockey until after the war."

Two prominent Ottawa citizens, James McCaffrey and Clare Brunton, dashed in panic to Cornwall to study the wreckage of Canadian hockey at first hand. James P., by the way, was the citizen who persuaded a dozen or so well-built young men to join the army in Ottawa last year, thus boosting enlistment figures and incidentally winning the Allan Cup for the capital. It was Brunton's rink that McCaffrey's men filled twice a week.

Development of better weapons, secret weapons! Here in Canada, when war began, C.G.E. was already operating a completely equipped plastics plant, with experienced engineers and craftsmen. War found this organization ready—and peace will find it ready, too! New skills have been developed. New formulas have been perfected. In the new world that will follow Victory, C.G.E., leader in the production of plastics for war, will be leader in the production of plastics for peace.

All-Star Ball Game Tonight

American Loop Has Trouble Naming Team

PHILADELPHIA — All-star teams from the National and American Leagues will battle here tonight, starting at 9 (6 Victoria time) in baseball's so-called dream game. It marked the 11th annual meeting, and a sell-out of the seats at Connie Mack's Shibe Park was assured at an early hour today.

There was still a lot of doubt over the starting team for the American Leagues under the management of Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees. McCarthy named three probable catchers, Bill Dickey, Yanks, or Buddy Roser, Cleveland, or Jake Early, Washington. Ernie Bonham, big right-hander of the Yanks, was expected to be the starting pitcher.

Manager Billy Southworth of the St. Louis Cardinals, who will direct the National League team, was specific about his batting order and declared it was a team he thought good enough to win. Mort Cooper, also a right-hander and member of his own Cards, was to start on the mound for the Nationals. Cooper, winner of 11 games against five defeats this season, has been rested since last Friday and is fully ready to seek to avenge the defeat he suffered last year when he pitched the first three innings of the all-star affair.

The following umpires have been named by Judge Kenesaw Landis, commissioner of baseball, to handle the game: Tom Dunn and Jocko Conlon, National League; Ed Rommel and Joe Rue, American League.

Howard Pollet Joins U.S. Army Air Corps

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Howard Pollet, 22-year-old St. Louis Cardinals' southpaw, who has chalked up five shutouts in winning eight games this season, withdrew Monday from the roster of the National League All-Stars to go to St. Louis, in connection with his enlistment in the United States Army Air Corps.

Patrick Inducted

NEW YORK (CP)—Lynn Patrick, left winger on the New York Rangers National Hockey League club, reported for induction into the United States army Monday. Sworn into the service, he was given a three-week furlough and will report for active service Aug. 12.

Lawn Bowling

The Peace Cup, emblematic of the singles championship of Vancouver Island, was won by Jack Davis of the Canadian Pacific club, who defeated C. A. Marconin, veteran champion of the Victoria club, in an exciting finish on the Beacon Hill Park greens, Saturday afternoon.

A. Phillips of the Victoria club won third place and Archie Findlay of Burnside was fourth. First place in consolation doubles was won by T. McCormick of Nanaimo and W. R. Shearing of the Victoria club. Next week Alf Marconini goes to Vancouver to play in the champion of champion singles for the Chambers Cup, donated by Walter Chambers of this city. Marconini won this cup some years ago and was followed by Mat Mosser, also of the Victoria club. Marconini is entitled to play again this year by having won the singles championship of his own club.

R.C.A.F. Register Lacrosse Victory

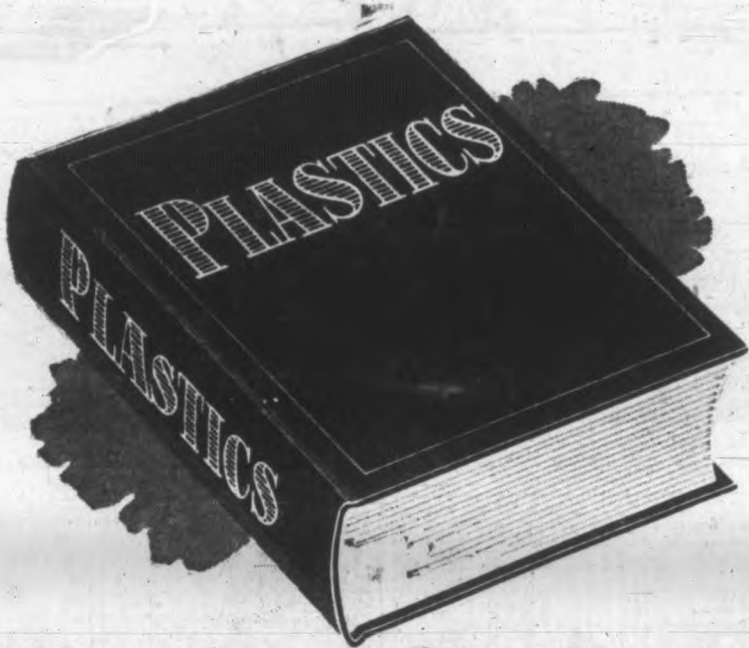

R.C.A.F. Flyers' senior lacrosse club turned back the Jokers Juniors, 22 to 10, in Monday night's game at Stevenson Park. The Flyers packed too much weight and experience for their opponents.

Red-headed Ralph Baker led the Flyers' offensive with four goals, while Wilf Hamson, Bobby Phelan, Norman Baker and Norm Coates each contributed three counters. Chugranes, Stewart and Halbert scored a pair each for the Jokers.

Tonight at 7, Douglas Tire will play Owl Drug. Tomorrow night at 7 Douglas Tire will play Yarrow, while Friday night at the same hour R.C.A.F. and Cougars meet in a senior engagement.

PLASTICS, for the most part, were young when this war began. They were providing us with electrical fittings, radio cabinets, automobile hardware... with cosmetic cases, camera cases and picnic ware. But plastics were ready! They were ready and able to help speed production of urgently needed planes and ships, tanks, guns and shells... ready and able to supersede many critical war materials—metals and rubber... ready and able to play a big part in the de-

W. T. Straith, K.C., M.L.A. for Victoria, will leave in a few days for the Peace River area and will be driven over part of the Alaska Military Highway from Dawson Creek by Glen Braden, M.L.A. for Peace River. Mrs. Straith will accompany her husband.

New Notaries Public

Noel Jones, accountant for the General Construction Company at Port Hardy, and Edward Allan McClarty, agent for the Alberta Wheat Pool at Dawson Creek, have, by order-in-council, been appointed notaries public.

Saskatchewan W.A. will sponsor a basket picnic to be held at the Willows Beach Wednesday.

TOWN TOPICS

Central Executive of Victoria Provincial Conservative Association will meet in the Conservative Rooms, 738 Fort Street, Wednesday at 8.

Oak Bay municipal employees will hold a meeting at the Oak Bay fire hall at 8 Wednesday night. W. Black of Vancouver will give an address.

The Victoria and Island Gliding and Soaring Club, Inc. will meet tonight in the hangar at 1207 Broad Street at 8 for lecture and work on the gliders.

Mrs. G. E. Aitree Coley will address the Victoria British-Israel Association's meeting in the First Baptist Church on "The Forgotten Law," at 8 tonight.

A four-by-five foot window at the Island Weider's, 1007 View Street, was broken Monday night. City police reported some one had probably fallen through the glass.

City firemen Monday afternoon extinguished a fire in the wiring of a car owned by E. Dunstain, 1029 North Park Street. The blaze, which broke out while the car was parked near 1317 Quadra, did slight damage.

Theft of cherries have called for investigation by city police. Mrs. A. E. Kent, 805 Linden Avenue, said a boy had been stealing cherries from her tree, while Mrs. E. Lunnell, 1222 Yates, said half a dozen sailors had stripped her tree and torn up her garden.

W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. for South Okanagan, and a member of the B.C. Postwar Rehabilitation Council, whose home is in Kelowna, and Robt. Carsen, M.L.A. for Kamloops, are in the city and are seeing members of the government on business for their constituents.

Many and varied are the duties of a police constable. Monday, Constables Bob Davidson and Tom Banister were called out to "keep the peace," which was being threatened during a dispute over a chicken deal, which a woman purchaser alleged was a foul deal. The vendor insisted on a price mark-up when the buyer delayed calling for her chickens. The police were able to arrange an armistice.

Baby Swans Make Debut in Goodacre Lake

Much handsomer than the Walt Disney picture "Ugly Duckling" makes out, the two cygnets in Beacon Hill Park were admired by hundreds of visitors last week-end when they first left the shelter of their nest on the island in Goodacre Lake. A fluffy battleship grey, with jet black beaks and necks already giving promise of the stately elegance and carriage of their proud parents, the babies are already tame enough to come close to the water's edge for gifts of food. Mrs. Swan spends most of her time pulling up weeds from the bottom, from which her babies glean algae. Swan Sr. acts as convoy escort wherever his family goes and with menacingly-raised wings chases off any duck with the temerity to come too close. Invariably the duck loses the race and saves himself only by a crash dive while Papa Swan returns to his family almost smugly.

Police Board Set-up Interest Revived

Opinion of F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, stating the City Council's responsibility in police matters is limited solely to paying the bill for maintaining the police department, threw into new relief a motion covering composition of the police commission passed by the council at the beginning of March.

At that time the council endorsed a resolution initiated by Ald. P. E. George calling for a plebiscite on the question at the December civic elections. The plebiscite will ask whether or not the citizens wish restoration of the elective system by which two candidates, without council affiliation, are elected by the voters to join the mayor on the three-man police board. Normally, if the move were endorsed, police commissioners would be chosen at the regular civic elections.

That prerogative was taken away some years ago and an appointive system was adopted, placing the police magistrate, the County Court judge and the mayor on the commission. The plan was considered unsatisfactory by a member of the commission and the existing method was adopted. The City Council by majority vote elects two of its members to join the mayor on the commission.

War Conditions Cut Waistlines

War conditions, with more men working physically in industry and victory gardens, are changing Victoria's masculine waistlines, according to a canvass of tailors and clothiers here.

Majority of men in the business report shrinkage in girths of their clients, although one, remarking some of his customers were not eating enough before, said he let out as many trousers as he took in.

"Quite a few customers are coming in with belt-lines shorter than they used to be," said one clothier. "We notice it in measuring for new suits and in alterations too. Maybe it's rationing or maybe the men are just working harder." He did not specify the type of rationing which might be responsible.

"I think it's true," said another questioned on the trend to leaner men. "I know we're selling more small sizes than we used to, but it's possible more boys are earning money and buying more trousers."

"Changes in size," he added, "are particularly noticeable in men at Gordon Head. They come in to be measured for uniforms and a month later they don't fit. The men drop as much as 10 pounds in that time through training."

Another, boasting a 20 pound reduction himself, attributed the change to the victory garden. Bending down over the weeds takes flab from the tummy, in his opinion.

New Recreation Area

Provincial government, by order-in-council this week set aside an area on Vasseaux Lake as a picnic ground for the benefit and enjoyment of the public. Residents of Penticton, Okanagan Falls and Oliver have long used this area as a recreation spot.

Summer School Sidelights

First of this year's Summer School beach parties will take place at Willows Beach Thursday evening. Those in charge are arranging a program of games, softball, swimming, sing-song, and an al fresco supper of toasted weiners.

The beach party is just another angle in the student recreation program now in full swing. Heavy registration has been accepted in all sports: badminton, in play Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7.30 p.m.; bowling, Mondays and Tuesdays, 4 to 6 p.m., at 914 Yates Street; ping-pong played at every off-moment in the ping-pong room, just off the gymnasium; softball, in which the girls are making a good showing as well as men, the first game having taken place last Friday afternoon; tennis, which is in play almost every hour of the day, and swimming and riding.

Additional to the extracurricular events posted for the Summer School 11 a.m. program, will be the appearance Friday, July 16, of Kenneth Caple of CBC, Vancouver, who will speak about radio and its use in the schools. For his title he has chosen "There Are No Walls."

The notice board annually erected for the posting of positions available to principals and teachers is already becoming rapidly filled. Conversation snatches on the feasibility of "swopping jobs" may be heard along the corridors as student-teachers ponder the pros and cons of each.

In the main hall at the Victoria High School the Summer School staff is responsible for an attractive display of eight book-jacket designs. Created by High School students for library publicity purposes, these colorful and striking posters suggest the themes of the following "best sellers": "Wild Life Under the Equator"; "The Yearling" (Rawlings); "The Well-Tempered Listener" (Taylor); "Magic in a Bottle" (M. Silverman, Ph.D.); "Half Mile Down" (Bees); "The Arts" (Hendrik Van Loon); "Return to the River" (Haig-Brown); and Emily Carr's "The Book of Small."

A handicrafts and practical arts display, well-worth seeing, at the Summer School is now on view in Room No. 410 (top floor). Students of course 60 are co-operating in making this interesting, adding-to-it newly-completed articles.

The collection illustrates wood-carving, paper-work, stencil-designing and cutting, basketry up to the finished article; linoleum and oil-cloth work of special interest in this section being the practical toys such as frogs, alligators, elephants and others, which young children can be taught to make; felt slippers made from old hats, and various stages of weaving. There are four small table looms, including two box looms of the tabby type, with floating heddle, and two four-harness looms. A belt loom, warping board and swift are also shown, and samples of the woven articles which can be made from each.

St. John's home-nursing classes for V.A.D.'s will commence Thursday at 8 p.m. at 824 Fort Street. All interested women will be welcomed.

Purchase of Club By Government Investigated

OTTAWA (CP)—Purchase of the Winnipeg Winter Club property for use of the navy was under investigation today by the public accounts committee of the House of Commons.

John Rankin, Montreal real estate man who assists the real estate adviser of the defence department, told the committee of his valuation of the property, which was purchased for $256,000. "I was prepared to recommend that the crown purchase the property up to $275,000," he said.

He had valued the buildings on a "replacement-less-depreciation" basis, as follows: The rink, $27,753; a house, $10,679; the club building, $98,943; the badminton courts, $67,344. He had valued the land at $24,000 and after checking over inventories and inspecting was prepared to accept the club's value of $45,000 for furniture and equipment.

J. E. Woods, Winnipeg real estate man, said he had been asked by the government to obtain the Winter Club on a sale or rental basis. Club officials had said they did not want to dispose of the property but that if it were needed for war purposes they would sell for $300,000 or rent for $35,000 a year, plus any increase in taxes or insurance.

Mr. Woods said he was told a rental basis was out of the question since the cost of converting the building to naval uses and reconverting at the end of the war would be too great.

Mr. Woods said he had asked the club if it would consider a lower sale price and, after consideration, the club had offered to sell land and building for $230,000 and furniture for $45,000.

The city's value on the property for assessment purposes was $129,365.

Aircraft Surplus Worries Britain

LONDON (CP)—In flat rebuttal to doubts of Britain's ability to sustain her aerial onslaughts against Germany is the statement of a Ministry of Aircraft Production spokesman that her primary worry is what to do with a mounting surplus of warplanes.

Nearing peak production, British aircraft and aero engines, he said, "are being manufactured in sufficient quantities and categories not only to meet every operational and training requirement of the R.A.F., but fully to replace all estimated losses and leave a very wide margin for a greatly increased scale of attack."

Striking this encouraging note, the air reporter of the Sunday Express wrote that "R.A.F. maintenance units are literally over-crowded with bombers. So to a lesser degree—are the dispersal points on R.A.F. operational stations."

Guilty of Assault

George Dretas, Greek merchant seaman who, according to his evidence, was stranded in Victoria three years ago on the freighter Bors, was found guilty in city court today of assaulting Arthur Braidwood, thereby causing actual bodily harm. Magistrate Henry Hall remanded the case for sentence.

Braidwood suffered a four-inch cut on the left side of his throat July 2. Dr. J. H. Moore testified the cut was caused by a knife which had just "skinned" the jugular vein.

Sgt. T. Stevenson arrested Dretas on Fisgard Street, near Government, the scene of the scuffle between Braidwood and Dretas. Dretas then, the sergeant said, had a penknife in his hand. The blade was closed. There was no sign of blood on the knife.

Braidwood, a laborer, testified he had gone to the Mandarin Chop Suey house for a meal early on the morning of July 2. He sat at a booth occupied by two women, one a Chinese.

The accused came in and got into an argument. Police straightened out the argument, and the women left.

Then, as Braidwood left the cafe, Dretas followed him to the corner of Government and Fisgard and attacked him, Braidwood said.

The injured man was taken to police station by T. H. Lidgate and Horace Taylor, V.M.D. workmen. He was then rushed in police patrol to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Dretas, in Canada under bond, said he had been employed by a wood and coal firm here. His wife and child are in Greece.

Struck by a car which police said was driven by Mrs. L. Adams, 3010 Wascana Street, Norman Dalman, age 10, 1014 Bay Street, suffered bruises and shock Monday afternoon. Police said the boy raced into the intersection. He was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital by Constables R. Davidson and T. Banister. Dr. F. M. Bryant attended.

Overseas 2 Years, Victorian Returns

CAPT. W. H. GIBSON.

son of Wilfred Gibson of Albert Head Road, back in Victoria on furlough after serving over two years in England with the 1st C.S.R.

Capt. Gibson was born in Victoria and attended South Park and Margaret Jenkins schools and Victoria College. He left Victoria for the Orient and served five years with the Shanghai Municipal Police returning here in 1937 and enlisting with the Canadian Scottish N.P.A.M.

By the time war broke out he had been commissioned and immediately "went active," going overseas with an advance unit of the 1st C.S.R. in September, 1940.

Capt. Gibson returned to Canada recently for a tour of "special duty" and expects to return overseas shortly. While in Victoria he is staying with his wife, whom he married in Shanghai, and their two children, the younger of whom he had not seen until reaching home, 2189 Bartlett, last week.

700 Unemployed Girls, Women Here

Girls in restaurants, laundries, stores and offices who might be contemplating giving notice to their present employers in hope of obtaining work at the Boeing parts plant, to be established in Victoria shortly, were warned by C. A. Mudge, manager of the local National Selective Service office today, that there are 700 unemployed girls and women on the files of Selective Service here.

"It would be inadvisable for girls in any type of work to sever connections with their present employers for work at Boeing's as we have an ample labor supply to meet any initial requirements," he stated.

In addition the labor pool of women available there are considerable numbers of men in the older age brackets who are not physically able to handle heavy war jobs but who could handle the type of work proposed, Mr. Mudge said.

At present no orders for help have been received at the local Selective Service office from Boeing.

"We have 160 orders on our files today for waitresses for restaurants in the city of Victoria, but many girls are reluctant to take either waitress or laundry work," Mr. Mudge added.

Gum copal, a resin obtained from tropical trees and used in varnish making, is imported from Belgian Congo; shipping difficulties may make the future supply uncertain.

300 Volunteers Aid Saanich Farmers

More than 300 volunteer workers from schools, homes and offices in Victoria have been provided Saanich farmers by the Dominion-Provincial Emergency Farm Labor Service, it was revealed by C. M. Smith, manager of the local office, today.

Students and women have been employed in berry picking, weeding and hoeing, while men have volunteered for some of the heavier chores associated with farming. According to comments from farmers the help has been satisfactory.

At the present time berry pickers are busy with the raspberry crop, loganberries having been delayed somewhat owing to unfavorable weather. However, large demands for loganberry pickers are expected before the end of the week and the office manager urges all planning to volunteer, to register now at 909 Government Street, Victoria.

Thirty girl students from Strathcona Lodge, Queen Margaret's School, St. Margaret's and Oak Bay High School have been staying at a hotel at Mount Newton School and going out to do weeding and hoeing while the berries were ripening, but it is planned to use their services for berry picking during the next few weeks.

Mum Growers Hear Vancouver Expert

Ald. Chas. Jones, past president of the Vancouver and District Chrysanthemum Society, gave a lecture on chrysanthemum culture to the members of the Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society at their monthly meeting.

Mr. Jones said as far as he knew there were no secrets in growing prize chrysanthemums, but they did respond to good care and kind attention. He said he had been growing "mums" for over 20 years and found that the old varieties are still hard to beat, particularly the "Majestic" varieties and advised members, especially the novices, to stick to these varieties for best results. Overfeeding was the main cause of loss of buds by rotting, while judicious feeding would result in fine large blooms, said Mr. Jones. Liquid manures given often in weak form were better than heavy doses occasionally.

In the process of bud "taking" great care should be taken to avoid injuring the bud and the process should extend over several days with a few side shoots being removed each day.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Jones by Dave Nicol.

American railroads carry approximately 1,750,000 troops a month in official movements.

Salt Spring Island

The Catholic Ladies' Altar Society of Salt Spring Island held a well-attended and most successful sale of work and tea in the Log Cabin at Ganges on Thursday afternoon last.A very attractive stall of plain and fancy needlework was presented over by Mrs. D. Fyfe and Mrs. R. Maxwell, who did excellent business, and Mrs. M.
Gyves had a tempting display of home cooking and garden produce which was quickly disposed of. Dainty teas were served by Mrs. E. Brenton, who was assisted by Mrs. W. Harris, Mrs.
Harold Lees, Mrs. G. St. Denis, Mrs. W. Jameski and others.Little Anna St. Denis was the lucky winner of the fish pond prize. Rev. Father Lariviere conducted the draw for the tombola prizes, which were won by the following: Silver tea service,
Mrs. W. R. Martin, Victoria; $5
War Savings Certificate, M. S.
Buscoe, Gordon Head, Victoria;
$5 scrip, G. Read of Sidney; embroidered pillow cases, R. Be-shaig, New York; embroidered tea cloth, J. E. Cathin, Gordon Head, Victoria; subscription to Sidney Review, Dr. E. H. Lawson, Cherry Point, Victoria. The entire proceeds of the affair amounted to $233 clear of expenses.Thirty-five dollars forty-one cents was cleared by the weekly sale of fruit, flowers, vegetables, etc., conducted by the Ganges
Chapter, L.O.P.E., on Ganges Wharf on Saturday afternoon.
Mrs. W. Lockwood and Miss Dorothy Leigh Spencer in charge. The winner of the chicken dinner was Mrs. G. Cunningham, this bringing in $8.20.
Misses Virginia Drumheller and Joan Burnett sold War Savings
Stamps to the amount of $48.
The sale of these stamps will be
July.Racing Results

expecting the corps superintendent, Miss White of Vancouver, to pay a visit to the island shortly, when she will address the members.The board of trustees of Salt Spring Island Consolidated School held their annual meeting Saturday in the library of the school building, about 50 being present and Mrs. G. Parsons in the chair.
Following routine business a satisfactory financial statement was presented and unanimously accepted.It was decided to maintain the present school tax of six mills.
Two returning trustees, Gavin C.
Mouat and A. W. Drake, were re-elected for a further term of office. A vote of thanks to the school principal and staff for their efficient service was passed.After four years' residence on less trouble arranging shipments of these imported rationed commodities.If the U-boat menace is reduced or held to its present state and ship construction is maintained at the pace now achieved, officials indicated, it appears certain that rations of these commodities can be either increased or rationing removed altogether.There are important imports which will share with tea, coffee and sugar and even with gasoline, in any increased ship space available. These include vegetable oils from various countries and peanuts, which come mainly from India. Both have good

Mt. View Students
Defend Teachers,
Say Charges FalseDeclaring charges made by a delegation from the senior Students' Council of Mount View High School recently, regarding alleged lack of discipline and non-co-operation of the staff were "utterly and wholly false," Dr. J. M. Thomas, principal, appeared before Saanich School Board Monday night and told the board the statement made was a "false libel of a good staff."Prior to Dr. Thomas' remarks, 16 students and members of the graduating class—12 girls and four boys, who had requested Martin Neilson, board chairman, they be allowed to speak on behalf of their teachers—presented a brief."Dr. Thomas deserves fair treatment; he gave it to all of us," Winona Bethune declared.Pamela Butcher, junior matriculant and spokesman for the group, contended that "proper parental control and co-operation with the teachers would help."
The students, several of whom are working, made arrangements to attend the investigation regarding conditions at Mount View High School and all Saanich schools Wednesday morning."Out of approximately 400 students only 45 were informed of the meeting referred to in the Times of July 8, and less than a score attended. We feel that this was not full representation of the student body," the brief stated in part.

PUNISHMENT JUSTIFIED

"During four years of contact with our teachers we have always found them co-operative in all activities and if corporal punishment was administered we feel it was justified as we know our teachers to be unbiased."A statement made by the delegation of five Wednesday night regarding citizenship was termed an unjust implication of the restof the students, inferring that they were poor citizens, the brief
you and the staff nor the meeting of the board and students earlier tonight was initiated by myself, but it was a happy experience to have those students meet me in the corridor and tell me what they did tonight," declared Dr. Thomas.In defence of the school's timetable, he stated that it was planned for days in order to make it fit the needs of students.
He outlined the extra-curricular activities sponsored by the teachers and told of one teacher taking a Spanish course last summer in order to teach the subject requested by students.Dr. Thomas as well as members of the board admitted the overcrowding at the school, the former stating that organization was made difficult when 100 extra pupils were taken into the school in September. Overcrowding was most noticeable, Trustee Mrs. E. M. Bryce stated, in reference to the girls' washroom.

NOT ASHAMED OF SCHOOL

Verene Maurer, delegate, declared that the students were ashamed to bring their parents into the school—a statement alleged to have been made by the Wednesday night delegation. The carnival referred to, she stated, was the greatest success the school had ever had.In reference to a clean-up campaign, D. W. Brown, teacher, stated it was a general improvement campaign originated by the school paper, "The Scribe," and students maintained that similar campaigns had been held in other years. Girls admitted not once but many times they had tidied up the girls' washroom. Any group which contributed money for the clean-up campaign did it voluntarily in order to win a competition which was being staged, Mr.
Brown said.Teachers attending the meeting with Dr. Thomas were: Miss Grace Higham, Miss Phyllis Poulson, D. L. Gilbert, W. R. Jones, D. W. Brown, Robert Huddleston and Frank Rendle.Camp Thunderbird Will Open FridayBelieved to be the first "four freedoms" pennant constructed in Canada, the Y.M.C.A. Camp at Glinz Lake will raise the newly-designed symbol of the United Nations along with the Union Jack, it was revealed today by Grant M. Paterson, director of Camp Thunderbird.The pennant bears four vertical red bars, representing the pillars of freedom, on a white field. Originated by Brooks B. Harding of Gloversville, N.Y., the pennant is symbolic of the common cause of world freedom which unites the 32 United Nations. Designed to be flown under the national colors, present plans call for unfurl-ings in America and other United Nations within the next few months.Although the 85 boys who have been registered for Camp Thunderbird do not leave for Glinz Lake until 1.30 Friday, they will have a busy time tomorrow night when they will be medically inspected at the Y.M.C.A. building.
At this time, ration coupons covering their stay at camp will be presented to Mrs. Helen Simpson, in charge of meals and camp diet.Transportation certificates will be issued at that time and boys who are attending the camp are advised to have their baggage ready to leave at the Y.M.C.A. building tomorrow, otherwise they will have to carry it up the long steep hill that leads into Camp Thunderbird. In addition to the medical inspection, the boys will be given an opportunity to select the interest groups they desire to follow while at camp.Parents who desire special interviews with the camp director, or members of the camp staff should attend with their boys tomorrow night when the majority of counsellors will be present to discuss the many phases of camping.No further registrations can be accepted for the stay at Camp
Thunderbird this year.SAVE YOUR HAM, BACON AND EGGS
FOR DINNER...But don't neglect breakfast, the meal so important to health!Rationing of meat means less "bacon-and-egg" breakfasts, less protein foods for the morning meal. Yet family breakfast must still be sustaining... a meal to break a longer-than-usual fast, and give energy through exacting morning hours.To make breakfasts tempting... satisfying ... nutritious... Quaker offers cereals in delicious variety. A kind for every taste!
Choose crisp-and-crunchy Quaker "ready-to-serve" cereals or full-flavoured, whole-grain Quaker Oats. Each makes its own valuable contribution to family health.For Quaker cereals are high in the kind of food energy that lasts longer. Contain valued proteins, minerals, vitamins. And take only seconds to fix! So let Quaker help make breakfasts satisfying, healthful, practical! Serve delicious Quaker cereals regularly.

Whole wheat's nourishment in exceedingly different form—light, crisp, tender! Made from selected Canadian wheat SHOT FROM GUNS for quick energy... easy digestibility... extra deliciousness. Order some today!

MUFFETS...
crunchy whole wheat biscuits

The nourishing goodness of whole wheat, at its delicious best. Ribbons of whole-grain wheat twisted into convenient biscuits, and toasted a delicious golden-brown. Thrifty, too... twelve servings in each big blue box!

Nutritionally sound supplement for rationed meats

A breakfast of whole-grain Quaker Oats now has new food significance. For it provides proteins that aid in body-building; contains useful amounts of the Phosphorus, Iron and B Vitamins that your body needs when less meat is used. Serve Quaker Oats for breakfast often, use it in your baking and cooking regularly.

Better-tasting Corn Flakes to make breakfasts brighter!

Cracker-crisp golden-brown flakes, made from fine selected corn. Oven-fresh because they're sold only in special flavoured boxes... extra delicious because they're malted. Make meatless and eggless breakfasts tempting, delicious, satisfying!

MORE HELP FOR RATIONED MEALS!

AUNT JEMIMA'S... plain and buckwheat
... a meal in themselves!

Pancakes with this real "Down-South" flavour—tempting, golden-brown, fluffy, delicious. Quick-as-a-wink—just add water or milk... stir... and pop 'em on the griddle. A thrifty dish that's a meal in itself.

For lunch... supper... dinner... TWO GRAND MEAT SAVERS

To make a little meat go a long way—or for extra-delicious macaroni-and-cheese, savoury spaghetti—try Quaker Quick Macaroni and Spaghetti. Two truly practical meat-savers!
